Colonel Williams Drowned as Car Plunges Off Pier

Fatal Accident That Takes Life of Marine Corps Officer Occurs in San Francisco; Machine Reported Traveling Fast and Swaying Peculiarly

BODY IDENTIFIED AT MORGUE BY WIFE

Victim Gained Nationwide Notice When General Smedley Butler Accused Him of Appearing in Public While Intoxicated

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 1—Col. Alexander Williams, marine corps officer, was drowned here early today when his car plunged from the end of a pier.

Witnesses saw the car as it sped down the Embarcardero, tore its way through the curbing and plunged into the bay. They said the machine was traveling at a fast rate of speed and swerving in an alarming fashion.

Police were immediately notified and the car was raised to the surface in a few hours. Colonel Williams was trapped in the enclosed car and had no chance to escape.

Colonel Williams' wife identified the body at the city morgue a short time after police succeeded in raising the car from the bay.

But little information could be found concerning just how Colonel Williams met his death. His wife said that he called her on the telephone about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and told her he was going to have dinner with friends. She said he called again about 9 o'clock and said that he was having a good time but would be home early.

"I expected he would be home about 11 o'clock," Mrs. Williams said. "When he told me he was having a good time, I told him to stay and enjoy himself."

Mrs. Williams said she did not know with whom the colonel dined. Colonel Williams was 48 years old and was born in New York. He had an excellent record as an officer in the marine corps.

Joe MacFarland, a night watchman, told officers that he saw the car driven by Colonel Williams as it sped along the waterfront. He said the machine was going at a fast rate and was swaying.

"I next heard the brakes on the ma-

ALLER DENIES HE TOLD MAN TO REMOVE CEMENT

LaRue Road Contractor Refutes Testimony of Frienda Redd, Waldo

L. L. Aller, LaRue contractor, charged with carrying away quantities of cement which should have been used in the construction of the Marion-Delaware-rd, today testified that he neither knew or had ever talked to Frienda Redd, of Waldo, who yesterday told the jury that he had removed cement from certain sacks upon receiving instructions from the contractor.

Aller stated that he seldom visited the cement cars and when he did visit the car on the morning that Redd is said to have been seen leaping from the car with empty sacks in his hand, he saw nothing unusual.

The contractor today asserted that on various occasions, especially during rainy weather, the top layer of the cement in exposed sacks would cake when the water came in contact with the sack. When this happened, Aller said, he instructed his men to remove the good cement from the sacks and dispose of the caked portion.

"Never Saw Scoop"

When asked concerning the galvanized scoop claimed to have been used by Redd in removing the cement from certain sacks, Aller denied ever seeing or hearing of the scoop.

Aller testified that a great loss of cement had resulted in the construction of the road so far and held State Highway Engineer J. I. Oberlander responsible for the loss.

Oberlander, Aller claimed, was in charge of the measurements and did not perform his duties well in this capacity. Aller said that at one time he was ready to take his men off the job because of chine squealing," he said "but the driver was unable to bring the machine under control. It leaped the curb and I heard the water splash as it plunged over the railing."

Colonel Williams gained nationwide the great losses but finally agreed to stay upon the urgent request of State

BURNING FREIGHTER IS MAKING FOR CHARLESTON

Plates Reported Buckling and Red Hot; Vessel Is Heavily Laden

Savannah, Ga., Oct. 1—Fearing she may be unable to reach Savannah, the freighter, New Britain, with fire raging in her hold, has decided to try for Charleston, S. C., according to latest radio advices to the government wireless station here today.

"Will try for Charleston, but may not be able to make it," the freighter said at 10:30 a. m.

"Plates on ship are buckling and are red hot," the message said, adding that while the fire was under control, it still was burning fiercely.

The New Britain reported her position at longitude 30.30 north, and latitude 79 west, approximately 200 miles from Charleston.

The freighter is heavily laden and carries a crew of 39 men.

RED CROSS HEAD HITS METHODS IN FLORIDA

Washington, Oct. 1—By minimizing the loss in Florida's hurricane, state officials, including Governor Martin, and real estate operators "have seriously handicapped the Red Cross in its efforts to provide relief for the storm victims, John Barton Payne, chairman of the Red Cross, declared today in a message to C. C. Pinkney, chairman of the Richmond, Va., chapter.

"The poor people who suffered are regarded of less consequence than the hotel and tourist business of Florida," said Payne.

MT. VERNON-AV SECTION CLOSED FOR REBUILDING

Strip To Be Improved Lies Partly in City and Marion Township

Mt. Vernon-av was closed early today for reconstruction of a portion of the road, in spite of the unfavorable weather.

The section to be repaired is 2100 feet in length and is located partly within city limits and partly in Marion Township. The county and city have joined in their efforts to rebuild the pike, with the county men handling the repair work. The highway is to be improved with water-bound macadam.

With the closing of the avenue, two detours are necessary.

Traffic approaching Marion from the east is thrown onto the detour at the Columbus and Sandusky-rd on the Claridon-pk. The detour directs the traffic north to the Patton-pk, west to the Harding Highway, and into Marion. Outgoing traffic follows the same path to the east.

Motorists coming into Marion from the southeast must detour at Schrock's schoolhouse, going south to the Cardington-rd, west to the Marion-Delaware-pk, and into Marion on the detour around the Harding Memorial section of the Delaware-rd.

If favored with suitable weather, County Surveyor Cecil R. Leavens said today that the Mt. Vernon-rd workers will have the job completed in a short time. Stone was being hauled to the scene early today and the detour signs were erected.

ALIGHTS ON THAMES, FLIES 28,000 MILES

Allan Cobham Completes Flight From England to Australia and Back

London, Oct. 1 — Allan Cobham alighted on the Thames opposite the house of parliament at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon, completing his 28,000-mile flight from England to Australia and back.

A huge crowd lined the banks of the river and the bridges to cheer his arrival. The flier was welcomed on the terrace of the commons by cabinet air officials, members of the house of lords and of the commons, and many other prominent personages.

Cobham started his flight on June 30. His actual flying time was 320 hours.

YOUNGSTER HAS FIVE GRANDMOTHERS

RALPH Eugene Blair, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Blair, 415 Twelfth-av, Columbus, will never go cookie hungry, for he has five living grandmothers.

Several weeks ago all of Ralph's grandmothers gathered at Richwood, the home of two of the group, for a reunion. They had the above picture taken.

Before his many grand and great grandmothers departed for their homes Ralph had one grand time sliding from one lap and climbing into another. Suffice it to say the youngster never escaped the watchful eye of one of his vigilant ancestors.

While the child is too young to boast of the five grandmothers he appreciates their existence for on his birthday he receives five parcels from "mamas" located in various parts of the country.

The Star's Baseball Board Will Call "Play Ball!" at 1:30 O'clock Saturday

PLAY BALL! That's the cry that will be heard in front of The Star building, N. State-st, Saturday afternoon when the New York Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals take the field in New York for the first world series game.

For The Marion Star will play the entire game, in every detail, upon its big baseball board in front of The Star.

The game will commence at 1:30 o'clock, Marion time, and play on the board will be simultaneous with play on the field as The Star has a direct wire to the playing field.

Chief of Police Thompson today said he would prohibit the parking of automobiles in front of The Star building in order that fans would have the entire space in which to witness the game.

The Star has secured another beat in covering the series, for along with Davis J. Walsh, sports expert, Katharine Brush, author of "Glitter," which The Star recently published as a serial story, will write her daily impressions of the big game.

The Brush stories will begin in Saturday's issue.

Immediately after the game each day The Star will publish its city edition, containing a complete play-by-play account of the game, together with a boxscore.

RECEIVER APPOINTED FOR TRUMBULL APARTMENTS

Galion Man Appointed in Foreclosure Suit Involving Local Property

A. W. Metheny, of Galion, was today appointed receiver in the foreclosure suit of The Harriman National Bank of New York against John R. Dugger and others, the premises involved in the foreclosure being the Trumbull Apartments, S. Main-st.

The New York banking firm asks for a judgment of $32,744.45, claimed due on a promissory note, issued June 15, 1922, by John R. Dugger and Nellie L. Dugger, at that time owners of the Trumbull Apartments.

$40,000 Note

The note for $40,000 was issued to the Cleveland Discount Co. and later endorsed to the Harriman National Bank of New York, according to the petition. In order to secure the note a mortgage on the Trumbull Apartment property was delivered by the Duggers to the Cleveland Discount Co. and in turn assigned to the New York bank, the petition sets up.

The owner of the apartments at present is A. W. Place of this city, who, as a grantee of the property deed, is claimed to have assumed the obligations of the mortgage. Place bought the apartments from Vance Nickeson of Columbus, April 21, 1926. Nickeson is named as a party defendant in the suit.

Dugger sold the apartments to Stanly M. Ranger of Marion in 1923. Seven months later it was purchased by Charles V. Sperry and Ella Wornstaff, partners in the Ashley Bank of Ashley. Clyde L. King of Lancaster, next purchased the property in October, 1924, and in turn sold the premises to Vance Nickeson of Columbus, in September, 1925. All purchasers and former owners of the apartments are named as party defendants.

PRESIDENT ATTENDING MARRIAGE OF HARRIS

Manager of Washington Club Weds Elizabeth Sutherland in National Capital

Washington, Oct. 1—Capital society and officialdom headed by President and Mrs. Coolidge, will mingle with luminaries of the sporting world this afternoon to witness the marriage of Stanley "Bucky" Harris, manager of the Washington ball club, to Elizabeth Sutherland, daughter of the alien property custodian and formerly United States senator from West Virginia.

The ceremony will be performed at the home of the bride. This romance has attracted more attention than has any marriage of any Washington debutante in the past decade.

The sensational young player who twice piloted the Senators to the league championship and once to the world championship, plans to take in the first two games of the world's series at New York preliminary to a six weeks' honeymoon in Europe.

Harris' age was given as 23; Miss Sutherland's as 21.

PLANS UNDER WAY TO FINISH S. PROSPECT-ST

Negotation May Result In Installation of Asphalt Surface

Negotiations are under way which may result in installing the asphalt surface on S. Prospect-st between McKinley Park and the south corporation line, an improvement which has been delayed for two years as the result of a controversy between city and county officials over the plan of financing.

It is claimed that the county agreed to pay the cost of the work and the dispute over this point has held up completion of the improvement. The concrete foundation is in place and the street has been used in this partially completed state during the last two years.

Should the controversy be satisfactorily adjusted in time, the asphalt will be spread by the H. P. Streicher Co. of Toledo, which is now operating its plant here in connection with several other street improvements.

Rapid Progress

The favorable weather prevailing during the last few days has resulted in rapid progress with street work here and should these conditions continue, all of the projects under way will soon be finished and ready for use. Spreading of asphalt on Uhler-av and Spencer-st has been completed and the plant is now operating on N. Oak-st. This is the last of the asphalt surfacing and from Oak-st the plant will be taken to several streets which are to undergo patching repairs. The Streicher Co. was recently awarded the contract for this work. The Streicher plant will also be used in laying of asphalt on the Harding Memorial highway.

Laying of brick on E. Church-st, which is being paved from Reed-av to Kensington-pl, is scheduled to start next week.

TENSION IS HIGH AFTER RESIGNATION OF CABINET

Warsaw, Oct. 1—Extreme tension today followed the resignation of the Bartel ministry as a result of the government's failure to obtain a vote of confidence on the budget proposals.

The serious nature of the friction between the enemies and adherents of President Pilsudski was indicated when several officers early today raided the bed-room of former Finance Minister Vichowski, leader of the opposition. The ex-cabinet member was beaten into unconsciousness and a gas bomb was left in his room.

Will Tells Cal What's Wrong Overseas as Comedian "Puts Up" at White House

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1—President Coolidge this morning knows exactly whats wrong with Europe and what should be done to rectify conditions. He got a complete ear-full of low-down on the situation last night from America's self-appointed diplomat, Will Rogers by name.

The gum-chewing comedian, just returned from Europe from whence he sent innumerable postal cards of advice to the president, is a White House guest. He wired Everett Sanders, the Coolidge secretary, yesterday afternoon that he would be in Washington for a few hours and would like, if possible, to pay his respects to the office.

When the president heard this, he directed Sanders to ascertain when Rogers' train arrived so a White House automobile might be on hand to meet him and to extend an invitation to stay overnight.

A long telegram came back immediately, its tenor being in effect:

"Oh, boy! Isn't this swell. I've never been in the White House before. You bet I accept."

And in conclusion, the master of the lariat stated:

"Sanders, if this is a joke, for God's sake head me off at Philadelphia."

Yanks Favorites With Wall Street on Eve of Series

Money Already Wagered on New York and St. Louis Teams Runs into Millions, Is Estimate; $300,000 Now Up with One Gotham Firm

SELL-OUT CROWD OF 63,000 SEEMS CERTAIN

American League Champions Favored Especially In First Game as Herb Pennock Is Expected To Pitch; Speculators Grabbing Tickets

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Oct. 1—Heavy speculation in Wall Street on the outcome of the world series reached high tide today when it was announced that approximately $300,000 had been wagered with the firm of W. L. Darnell & Co. alone on the chances of the Yankees and Cardinals.

With other Wall Street houses taking on all comers, it was estimated that the amount of money riding with the winner and loser had run into millions, with more on the way as the hour for the series opener tomorrow approached on leaden feet.

The Yanks, in spite of an influx of St. Louis money, continued to rule steady favorites at odds of 6 to 5 and it seemed probable that these figures would prevail, at least until after tomorrow's premiere. There will be a hasty hedging of bets, however, and a consequent shifting of odds if the Cardinals win the first game.

Seats at Spec's Prices

World series games were supposed to have become a brouhle in New York, yet there wasn't a reserved seat to be had today except at speculator's prices—and with fair weather promised for tomorrow, a sell-out crowd of 63,000 seemed certain.

All reserved seats for the first three New York games were disposed of days ago, according to a statement from the New York headquarters, but more than 30,000 general admission seats will be available each day when the gates are thrown open at 10 o'clock each morning.

Before nightfall tonight the customary lines of all night vigilants will begin to form at the stadium portals for the big game tomorrow.

Bank on Pennock

For this game, too, the Yanks were quoted by Darnells as the favorites, largely because of the general expectation that Herb Pennock, star lefthander, will pitch and the fact that

HUNGRY BRITISH MINERS ARE RETURNING TO PITS

Two Hundred Thousand Resume Work, Despite Pleas of Leaders

London, Oct. 1—The last hope of the British coal mine strikers went glimmering today when a Central News dispatch from Ostend that the International Miners Federation, now in session there, had rejected the proposal of English mine leaders for an international coal strike.

With starvation staring them in the face and cold weather rapidly approaching, the miners were going back to the pits in large numbers, their leaders being powerless to stop them.

Two hundred thousand, or one-fifth the total number of miners, had returned to work today.

OHIO RIVER BOAT SINKS AFTER STRIKING PIPELINE

Steamer Valued at $75,000 Goes Down in 20 Feet of Water

Gallipolis, Oct. 1—The packet, Senator Cordill, plying between Pittsburgh, Pa., and Charleston, W. Va., was resting on the bottom of the Kanawha River, near here, today, after striking a pipeline and sinking in 20 feet of water last night.

The crew and a half dozen passengers took to small boats and landed safely on the shore.

Captain M. O. Irwin was in command of the steamer which is owned by the Shippers' Packet Co., of Pittsburgh, and is valued at $75,000.

Cincinnati divers will try to raise the ship.

OHIO RAINFALL BREAKS ALL BUT 1913 RECORD

State Figures Show 8.51 Inches of Precipitation During September

Wooster, Oct. 1—September rainfall in Ohio broke all monthly records for the last 25 years, with the exception of 1913 when the disastrous flood occurred, according to figures announced today by the Ohio experiment station here.

For September the record shows 8.51 inches of rain, compared with 11.84 in 1913. The closest to this amount of precipitation was in 1911 when 6.53 inches fell.

Rainfall for the year still is short of the 22-year average of 31.37 inches—only 29.72 inches so far having fallen.

BUSINESS MEN OF MIDDLETOWN SURVEY MARION

Fact Finding Commission Winds Up Week's Tour with Visit Here

A party of 17 Middletown, O., men representing various organizations and business interests and constituting the "Fact Finding Commission" of the Middletown Civic Association, wound up a week's tour of Ohio and Pennsylvania cities in Marion today, spending all of the day calling on heads of local civic and welfare organizations to obtain data regarding the plans of operation in effect here.

Following its visit here, the commission returned to Middletown supplied with a vast amount of information obtained in the six cities visited in the tour. All of this data will be assembled in typewritten form for use by the Middletown Civic Association in fixing its future program of policies and activities.

Purpose of Survey

The purpose of the commission in making this survey has been to obtain information regarding the methods used by officials and organizations of other cities in the conduct of public service, civic welfare, business promotion and all other community activities and to use any new ideas gathered from the investigation for improving conditions in Middletown.

Practically every important organization and business interests is represented in the personnel of the Middletown party, each man being delegated to collect data relating to his particular branch of the civic association. This association supervises practically all pub-

WILLIAMS DENIES SMITH EVER DELIVERED PAPERS

Former Alien Property Custodian Official Says Merton Gave Him Documents

New York, Oct. 1—George Williams, former managing director of the alien property custodian's office, resuming the witness stand in the trial of Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general, and Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, on conspiracy charges, today denied that he had been given the papers in the $7,000,000 American Metals Co. property return by the late Jesse Smith, close friend of Daugherty.

Williams said that the papers were delivered to him by Richard Merton, German industrialist, through whose offices the holdings which had been seized during the war were returned. He denied knowledge of any connection with the deal of the late John T. King, Connecticut politician.

Efforts to Halt Vote on Primary Amendment Defeated

SUPREME COURT DISMISSES SUIT FILED BY BURKE

Body Upholds Brown in Contention That Cause for Writ Was Insufficient

Columbus, Oct. 1—Rebuffed in its efforts to obtain from the Supreme Court a writ of prohibition to prevent a referendum in the November election on the proposed constitutional amendment modifying Ohio's primary law the Primary Defense League, headed by John F. Burke of Elyria, former state senator, was undecided today on its next step in the matter.

"Until I have conferred with Mr. Burke, which probably will be some time today, I do not know what further legal action, if any, we will take in the case," James A. White, counsel for the league, said.

The Supreme Court late yesterday dismissed the suit brought by Burke to prevent the amendment from going on the November ballot, thus balking, temporarily, at least, the Primary Defense League's efforts to halt the referendum in the forthcoming election.

Fraud Charged

The suit alleged that signatures to the petitions for the referendum were obtained by fraud.

Earlier in the day, the court heard arguments on the suit, counsel for Secretary of State Thad H. Brown, on whom falls the duty of placing the proposed amendment on the ballot, contending there was insufficient cause shown for issuance of the writ and that the league should have sought remedial action in lower courts. This argument was upheld by the Supreme Court in its decision.

Regardless, however, of whether the league takes further legal steps, it will continue its efforts to defeat the proposed amendment to the constitution, White declared.

To Launch Campaign

"We immediately will launch a statewide campaign among the voters against the proposed amendment," White said, "and we feel that when the people are acquainted with the fact, it will be overwhelmingly defeated at the polls."

The Supreme Court's action in dismissing Burke's suit, White stated, disclosed the necessity for legislation to "preclude the possibility of such fraud again being perpetrated." The fraud charges were based on allegations that signatures were forged to the petitions asking for the referendum.

"And we mean to seek such legislation at the forthcoming session of the general assembly," White said.

Under existing primary law in Ohio, the voters select nominees at primary elections. The amendment proposes to give to the convention assembly the right to provide by law for the nomination of all elective officers, but it preserves the right to nominate by petition and if nominations are made by conventions, the delegates to the convention shall be chosen by the direct vote of the electors. There would be no change in the manner of choosing delegates to the national conventions of political parties.

BELIEVES VOTERS WILL REPUDIATE AMENDMENT

Elyria, Oct. 1—Belief that the voters of Ohio would repudiate the proposed constitutional amendment against the present primary law was expressed here today by J. F. Burke, president of the Primary Defense League, as a result of the Supreme Court's action in permitting the referendum to go on the ballot at the November election.

"I am not greatly disappointed," Burke declared. "I knew the law and decisions but hoped that some method of redress could be found to protect the citizens. It is unfortunate that citizens have no redress in the case of forged and crooked petitions after they have been sent back to the secretary of state by the board of elections.

"If this case could have been heard on its merits, we would have been able to overwhelm the court with facts.

"It is probably better to hold the election as I am certain the people will bury this proposed amendment beneath the largest majority that has ever been seen in an election in Ohio. We will begin the campaign at once."

Lots of noise is made by spouting sententious epigrams about the beauty of silence.

TWENTY-YEAR OLD HEN HATCHES 14 CHICKS

London, Oct. 1—Notwithstanding the fact that all poultry experts say that the domestic hen "is too old at three," a twenty-year-old hen has just hatched a brood of fourteen chicks at Heppershall, Bedfordshire.

Mother and family are all doing well.

REDS TEACH ATHEISM IN SUNDAY SCHOOLS

London, Oct. 1—That Communists are openly teaching atheism in Sunday schools held by them throughout Britain is a charge made by the British Empire league.

The League states that the following catechism is being taught to children attending the schools.

God is that power which man in his ignorance has called supernatural.

The workers can only raise their status by revolution. They must educate and train themselves to overthrow the present Class State by force if need be.

Thou shalt not be a patriot for a patriot is an international shackle.

Thou shalt teach revolution.

Thou shalt wage the class war.

It is stated that the teachings of these schools is maintained by eleven colleagues, which train young men as revolutionary speakers and teachers.

O course, if one wants nothing done in this world, one can be disinterested; but how many are disinterested?

No man who has the courage and the ability to do anything wants the government to do it.

Only Few Cars Iced Here by American Railway Express Co. in Month of September

Two Cars of Perishable Goods Daily Taken Care of at Hornell Ice Co. Siding; Many Erie Specials Operate Through Marion to East

...ers of perishable goods ... the American Rail... during September, rec... ch disclose.

...about two cars a day ... present and this will ... season, John McNeal, ... warehouse of the ... day.

...rs of perishable goods, including meats, fruit, dairy products, and the like, were iced here during the summer months by the Hornell Ice Co. under the direction and management of officials of the Express Co.

The cars iced here were usually en route eastward over the Erie Railroad. Many Erie specials operated through through this city from Chicago to New York this summer and practically all carrying perishable goods were supplied with ice here.

The high mark for iced cars was set in July when about 450 were treated by the Hornell Ice Co. May, June and August also established records for the season.

With the advent of cooler weather, fruit shipments are decreasing and those that are carried over the railroads do not call for preservation on the trip. Within a month, no cars will be iced.

Carries Delegation

Train No. 7 on the Erie last night carried a delegation from the civic association of Middletown.

Chinese

Erie Train No. 8 today carried three cars of Chinamen, enroute from Seattle, Wash., to Jersey City.

Private Car

A special train carrying the private car, "Chicago," occupied by R. N. Begien, vice president in charge of operations of the Hocking Valley Railroad, having headquarters in Richmond, Va., made a run through Marion yesterday afternoon, arriving here at 3:30. The train was enroute to Toledo.

Attend Traffic Meet

C. M. Ryder, C. E. Sargent and I. W. Morris, of the local Hocking Valley offices, were in attendance at the traffic meeting of the Hocking Valley men at Carey, Tuesday night. A large crowd was present and the general routine discussion of safety methods was carried on.

Here on Business

J. H. Brinkman, commercial agent of the Great Northern Railroad Co., operating out of Cincinnati, was in Marion today on company business.

Visits Local Office

Carl Mosher, traveling freight agent of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co., was a visitor in the local Hocking Valley freight house yesterday, looking after the interests of his company.

Initial Trip

W. H. Wintermeyer, of Columbus, recently appointed loss and claim prevention special representative of this division of the Hocking Valley, made his initial trip in this vicinity yesterday. Mr. Wintermeyer was a visitor in the local Hocking Valley freight house.

Rail Positions

Applications for the positions of brakemen on various trains on the Erie Railroad are being received in the office of O. P. Shaughnessy, in the local Erie yards. Applications will be received until Monday at midnight.

THOUSANDS SEEK GLIMPSE OF EVANGELIST "AIMEE" ON TRIAL

Crowd about the Hall of Justice waiting for appearance of Mrs. Aimee McPherson and closeup of Mrs. McPherson, taken in the courtroom.

The widespread interest in the court hearing of the circumstances attending the alleged "abduction" of Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist at the Angelus Temple, Los Angeles, is indicated in the photo above. Thousands of morbidly curious as well as followers of the woman preacher flock to the Hall of Justice seeking admittance to the courtroom and, failing to get in, await a glimpse of Mrs. McPherson arriving or leaving.

ENGLISH GIRL GIVES UP CHANNEL ATTEMPT

Dover, England, Oct. 1—Miss Jane Parwin, the English girl who left Cape Gris Nez at 9:22 o'clock yesterday afternoon in an attempt to swim the English Channel, gave up the attempt at 7:53 o'clock this morning because of the coldness of the water. She was eleven miles from Dover when she abandoned further effort, having made little progress since midnight.

NEW OVERLAND GARAGE CROWDED FOR OPENING

New Home on W. Center-St Attractively Decorated with Smilax and Flowers

The new home of the Marion Overland Co., at 309 W. Center-st was crowded with visitors this afternoon when the building, one of the finest of its kind in this part of Ohio, was formally opened to the public for the first time. The crowds began to arrive shortly after 1 o'clock, the time set for the opening of the doors, and continued to throng both the first and second floors of the spacious structure during the remainder of the afternoon.

The formal opening will continue this evening until 10 o'clock and Saturday from 1 to 10 p. m. Various entertainment features are provided in addition to an especially elaborate display of all models of Overland cars. The new garage and show-rooms are attractively decorated for the occasion with Southern Smilax, cut flowers and flags.

Orchestra Music

Murray's orchestra is to give a continuous program of vocal and instrumental music.

An especially interesting feature of the entertainment program is a showing of motion pictures, including scenes filmed by Adam Bauer, local photographer, in Marion and vicinity. This attraction, which is one of the most unique motion picture programs ever arranged here is on the second floor of the building in a large room that will be used for car storage. A Krazy Kat Comedy is an added feature of the movie entertainment.

Attractive souvenirs are given to all visitors young and old toy balloons to children accompanied by their parents, and novelties to adults.

Auto Displays

The display of automobiles is one of the most extensive and costly ever assembled in Marin, representing an investment of many thousands of dollars. Included are several special models of cars sent here for this occasion from the Overland factory.

A 1902 model Overland car, one of the first manufactured and still in running condition, is being inspected with unusual interest by the crowds at the opening.

Playing to the Gallery.

There has been such persistent misrepresentation of the proposed amendment to the constitution of the state, whereby the legislature may be empowered so to modify the organic law of the state that candidates may be nominated at conventions by delegates chosen at primaries, that misconception of its true purpose may obtain unless such misrepresentations are refuted.

To the end of dissipating any misconception which may at present exist and to lessen the possibility of any misconception in the future, this newspaper presents below an editorial from the Akron Beacon Journal with the hope that it will be given the consideration of every reader of the Star:

"The Beacon Journal does not often question the motives of those who are trying to render a public service even though the performance is obviously wrong. But no tolerance of opinion should be allowed to obscure the recent performances of the Primary Defense league. It is so manifestly playing to the political gallery that no one should be left in doubt about the performance. We freely concede the right of this latest of the leagues to do anything it sees fit, to champion or to oppose, any measure, provided it does so honestly and with due observance of the facts. This is exactly what it is not doing.

"A quarter of a million of names were signed to petitions asking that the people of Ohio be given a chance to vote at the November election on a constitutional amendment which modifies the primary so that the legislature may provide for conventions to nominate candidates by delegates selected at primaries. These petitions being duly certified back to the secretary of state as sufficient, the amendment was ordered on the ballot. Then up jumped the Primary Defense league. It has been going around making stump speeches until the time laid down by the law for action had elapsed. Then it began to yowl about fraud. Julius Caesar, Alexander Hamilton and other estimable gentlemen and notorious ladies long since dead, were upon some of the petitions wherefore the whole thing must be permeated with fraud. Down to Columbus raced the league and filed a lurid stump speech before the secretary of state, whom it knew had no jurisdiction of the matter. If it knows anything, it must have known that the law is explicit and direct. Such protests must be filed within twenty-five days after the filing of the petition, and it must be before any common pleas court in the county where the fraud is alleged to have been committed.

"The question then arises why did this league wait until the time fixed by statute for hearing protests had elapsed? Why did it take the case to the secretary of state who had no jurisdiction? The answer is perfectly obvious. The league has not a single legal leg to stand on and the last thing in the world it is looking for is a fight where it has to meet a real opponent. So long as yowling about fraud and caterwauling about the rights of the people can be pulled off with elaborate distortion, and gaudy lies about the facts, it is fine—but all such leagues, including this one, do not mean to come to grips in any fair test of any question. Campaign material is the thing wanted and it is much more convenient, and a great deal safer, to make stump speeches from the housetops telling what they could do if they had a chance, than to go into court and get a good licking.

"This explains the first act of the league's elaborate drama of bunk. The second is even worse. After getting all the publicity possible by pretending that something visible to nobody else in the state was holding it back from doing its duty by the plain people, it has now galloped over to the supreme court and got an injunction, and incidentally more publicity. It has also got the date for hearing the injunction set so far ahead that it hopes the case can not be tried until too late for the amendment to go on the ballot. In other words these saviors of the people have added to the zeal of the uplifters the methods of the shyster lawyer and mean to defeat the will of a quarter million people by a piece of sharp practice that even Sergeant Buzz Fuzz would not have tried in the Old Bailey. However, without discussing the curious fact that the reformer is always perfectly willing to win his point by sharp practice or even fraud, one may ask in passing why the estimable gentlemen and the lovely political ladies, who are said to form the backbone and gas of this league are so all fired afraid to have the voters of Ohio pass upon a change in the primary? The case itself we do not wish to discuss. We shall try that not in the newspapers, but in the courts. But it is high time for the people of Ohio to get the proper perspective of a performance which is being conducted wholly for the purpose of creating prejudice in the minds of the voter who does not take time to study the questions he is to vote upon.

"It is highly probable that Julius Caesar, Alexander Hamilton and Mary Diddlebaum, all long since dead or highly apocryphal, did appear on the petitions. Such things are inseparable from a petition of that magnitude. The board of elections of Cuyahoga county threw out 9,000 names for such or other good reasons. Summit county did the same thing, only of course, on a smaller scale. Other counties did likewise. And after this was done there yet remained 242,000 names that election officials certified as correct. This is approximately 70,000 more than is needed. But this precious league suppresses all of these facts. Indeed it will not be fair about the amendment itself, but systematically represents it as a measure 'to do away with the primary and establish the old system,' when as a matter of fact it does nothing of the kind.

"If the leaguers can read and have taken the trouble to examine the amendment before attacking it, they know exactly the contrary is true, for under it no convention in Ohio will be possible unless the delegates to it are selected at primaries. Such tactics are no longer used by honorable men in legitimate debate, but God only knows what to expect of the chronic uplifter, and even He must be vastly surprised occasionally at what happens. The proposed amendment is not perfect. It may be that the people of the state do not want it. If it has defects they should be brought out in legitimate argument without the suppression of any facts. The question should be decided upon its merits without any of the usual political pettifogging methods of creating prejudices either for or against it. This is all the men back of it want done and with this object the Beacon Journal is wholly in sympathy."

Possibly Editor Knight might have uttered the foregoing editorial in gentler phraseology, but such is not his way. He believes in calling a spade a spade, and there manifestly are times, such as the present, when plain speaking is imperative. But though there may be question of phraseology, there can be none of fact. He has the facts as have few—if any—other editors in the state and this is why we offer Star readers the editorial in its entirety.

Of course, it must be understood that Mr. Knight's editorial was written and published before the rendering of the decision of the state supreme court, Thursday, which sustained the demurrer to the suit of the Defense league to keep the proposed amendment off the ballot.

We are told that Mars will be but 42,000,000 miles away this month and in better position for viewing than for many years past. It's no use. We've never gotten the crink out of our neck we suffered while viewing Mars two years ago.

Following the lead of the Miami papers which are now bragging about their big storm the Columbus papers might "point with pride" to the fact that the records show that the achievement of the Columbus hail team stands matchlessly alone.

Statistics showing that there are but 800,000 automobiles in all France do not tally wholly with the tales of returning travelers regarding the number of taxis seen by them in Paris, but conditions over in Paris are such that maybe Americans who go there may see a lot more than they really do.

JOHN BULL: "WHEN I TOOK THAT KID TO RAISE I MIGHT HAVE KNOWN I'D HAVE TO WALK THE FLOOR."

Tic Douloureux Needs Expert Care.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

A few days ago I had a letter from a lady living out in Ohio. She asked me to write an article on "Tic-Douloureux."

Because of the severity of the neuralgic pains, this disease is sometimes called "major neuralgia." It is entirely different from the common neuralgias of the face, particularly those which accompany bad teeth.

The pain comes in paroxysms. A person who has always been free from such trouble may be attacked by a terrific pain in the jaw. I have known people who never had aches or pains suddenly to develop tic-douloureux and nearly die from the severity of the paroxysms repeated on occasions.

The location of the pain causes the victim to suspect that the teeth are out of order. Several may have been pulled before the real nature of the disturbance has been determined.

Between the attacks there may be long intervals. Just about the time the patient becomes encouraged to believe that he will have no more trouble, another attack sweeps him off his feet.

The nerves become so sensitive that loud speaking, blowing the nose or eating may set off the explosion and start an attack.

The doctors call this disease "tri-geminal neuralgia" because an important nerve, called the trigeminal nerve is the one involved. Wherever this nerve's branches extend out into the face there are the locations for the pain.

I have indicated to you that the state of health appears to have little bearing upon these cases. There may be the appearance of perfect health, and yet there may be violent attacks of tic-douloureux to exhaust and prostrate the victim.

When the attacks come, hot applications, soothing applications, and the things which usually give comfort in mild attacks of neuralgia, fail to relieve. They have no effect upon lessening the pain. Nothing but an opiate seems effective.

I desire in this connection to warn you against the use of opiates. Except under the advice of a competent physician of high character, opiates should not be taken. Infinitely worse than tic-douloureaux are the effects of drug addiction.

To relieve tic-douloureux various operative procedures have been recommended. It may be necessary to operate on the nerve ganglion or to remove a section of the nerve, and in that way to cut off the branches from connection with the involved part of the nerve.

Of course, before any radical operative procedure is resorted to, milder methods will be tried. One of the ways of treating tic-douloureux is to inject alcohol into the nerve. In many cases this will relieve the pain for six or eight months. Of course, this has to be done by an experienced person who thoroughly understands the anatomy.—Copyright, 1926.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Arnold Bennett once said: "I think it rather fine, this necessity for the tense bracing of the will before anything worth while can be done. I rather like it myself. I feel it is to be the chief thing that differentiates me from the cat by the fire."

This tense bracing of the will is the hard thing. But if we expect things to be easy, we shall be disappointed. And if we insist on them being easy, we shall fail.

A long time ago somebody said that corrupted freemen are the worst of slaves. We think the old system of slavery which began in this country 306 years ago was an unspeakably bad thing. But do we stop to think that we are all slaves to the things we can't control—slaves to selfish desires, slaves to habits that master us, slaves to an intolerant point of view which controls our thinking? Freemen are not free if they are corrupted by wrong thinking.

Do not think it is a virtue or a pleasant habit to be always smiling. Some of the worst bores we know always look pleasant. Don't boast about your optimism. It is much more creditable to have the courage to look facts in the face. Smile when there is occasion. If there is no occasion, then your grin makes you silly.

Mark Twain knew what he was talking about when he said truth is such an important article that we should economize in its use. There is a great deal of truth that it is unkind and unnecessary to tell. Some folks seem to think it is a virtue to go about proclaiming truth about things and people. It would be more of a virtue if they went about keeping their own counsel and sparing the feelings of others. Use truth, like all talk, sparingly.

Poems That Live.

OLD TIMES, OLD FRIENDS, OLD LOVES.

There are no days like the good old days—
The days when we were youthful!
When human kind were pure of mind,
And speech and deeds were truthful;
Before a love for sordid gold
Became man's ruling passion,
And before each dame and maid became
Slave of the tyrant fashion!

There are no girls like the good old girls—
Against the world I'd stake 'em.
As buxom and smart and clean of heart
As the Lord knew how to make 'em!
They were rich in spirit and common sense,
And piety all supportin';
They could bake and brew, and had taught school, too,
And they made such likely courtin'!

There are no boys like the good old boys—
When we were boys together!
When the grass was sweet to the brown bare feet
That dimpled the laughing heather;
When the pewee sang to the summer dawn
Of the hex in the billowy clover,
Or down by the mill the whippoor-will
Echoed his night song over.

There is no love like the good old love—
The love that mother gave us!
We are old, old men, yet we pine again
For that precious grace—God save us!
So we dream and dream of the good old times,
And our hearts grow tenderer, fonder,
As those dear old dreams bring soothing gleams
Of heaven away off yonder.

Q. In an ancient history which I have there is the statement that the story of Cinderella was written expressly for the amusement of the small son of Rameses II. Is this true, and if so can you give me the story from the original Egyptian? I. B.

A. An authority says that the story of Cinderella is founded on fact and that she lived 2,000 years before the Christian era, being known in history as the "Rosy Cheeked Queen." The story runs as follows: "One day a lady, named Rhodopis, was bathing in the Nile and the wind carried one of her sandals and laid it at the feet of the king of Egypt, who was holding a court of justice in the open. His curiosity was excited by the singularity of the event and the elegance of the sandal and he offered a reward for the discovery of the owner. Rhodopis claimed it and the sandal was found to fit her exactly. The king married her."

There is a waggish comedian whose wife shifted her affection to another and he remains desolate and unconsolable. He wanders about the streets at night alone, dropping into the night club and that, resting his head in his hands at a table for a few moments and passing on. He makes others laugh while he is usually on the verge of tears. The other night a friend tried to buck him up. When he finished, the comedian said: "I know it is foolish and there is nothing that can be done about it. I must keep on clowning and try to forget. But if ever a great grief comes to you, try to make everybody laugh—and you'll get the idea." And somehow I believe he is facing the world's most difficult task.

This same comedian had cut into the grief one night to lighten his woes. Next midday he was at breakfast slightly disheveled. After holding his head in his hands awhile he looked up and groaned: "This headache was made for a horse."

Who's Who and Why.

CAPTAIN H. DENNY CAMPBELL.

The coveted Herbert Schiff Memorial trophy for United States naval aviation is to be awarded this year to Captain H. Denny Campbell of the marine corps. The trophy, a gold annual award, is given to the naval aviator who shows during the year ended June 30 the highest number of flying hours without serious accident to personnel or material.

Captain Campbell has made an enviable record in the service of his country. He entered the marine corps in April, 1917, before war was declared, and was one of the first detachment of marines to set foot on French soil. He served with the famous Second division in the trenches at Belleau Wood, Chateau-Thierry, Blanc Mont, and was wounded shortly before the armistice.

Later he served with the American army of occupation in Germany. During part of the offensive he had been in command of a machine gun company and was an outpost commander while serving in Germany. On his return to this country he was stationed at Pensacola, Florida, first as a student and later as an instructor. He served in 1923 in Haiti, and the year following in Santo Domingo, being stationed for the last two years at San Diego, California. He has served as operations, parachute and aerological officer and organized the air mail service to and from Santa Barbara at the time of the earthquake in July, 1925. He reached the scene of the disaster within a few hours and made daily flights for three weeks.

In August last year he made a transcontinental flight from San Diego to Pensacola, flying a de Haviland, and a month later made a flight back in a Martin bomber. Other cross-country flights followed, on one of which Captain Campbell alighted without damage under difficult circumstances when forced down with a dead cylinder. In December he was officially recommended by Secretary Wilbur for machine gun marksmanship, making ninety-three hits out of a possible 100 in nine seconds while flying at ninety miles an hour. In May of this year he made a perfect score in practice, dropping four bombs from a height of [illegible].

Captain Campbell, in his five years of instructing, it is said, has never failed to graduate a student and has never lost a student to whom he has taught to fly.

Social Activities

ONE of the delightful social affairs arranged for the pleasure of members of the Marion Country Club was the informal dance last night at the club. A nice-sized number of the members danced to an entertaining program played by the Harding Ballroom Orchestra. During an intermission at 10:30 o'clock supper was served. Baskets of garden bloom carried out an attractive color note in decorating for the dance.

MEMBERS of the Marion Lecture-Recital Club have planned an entertaining guest artist program for the opening number of their season to be presented at 8 o'clock Monday evening at the Community Home, S. Highst. Appearing on the program will be Mrs. John D. Sage, of Cincinnati, formerly Miss Carmen Blow of this city; Miss Elizabeth Wottring of Prospect, graduate of piano at Ohio Wesleyan University last year, and Walberg Brown, Cleveland, formerly of this city, violinist. The program will be followed by a social hour in charge of Miss Marian McNeil, social chairman.

Club plans include an associate membership but on account of the limited seating capacity of the Community Home it has been arranged for each member to invite three guests in opening the season.

Officers of the club for the year are Mrs. Harold K. Mouser, president; Miss Dora Jacobs, first vice president; Mrs. J. W. Parland, second vice president; Mrs. Minnie Oesterle Ackerman, recording secretary; Miss Mabel Baldauf, corresponding secretary; Miss Lillian Plack, treasurer; Mrs. Karl Schell, librarian; Mrs. John Oborn, auditor.

Mrs. James C. Woods will serve as program chairman; Miss Dora Jacobs, president of the chorus; Miss Alfreda Horn, chorus accompanist; Mrs. W. B. Long, finance chairman; Miss Helen Bever, Junior Club chairman; Miss Marian McNeil, social chairman; Miss Alfreda Horn, publicity chairman; Miss Alice Macken, art chairman; Miss Helen Atchison, memorial chairman; Mrs. Watkins Johson, legislative chairman; Mrs. David W. Evans, educational chairman; Miss Maye Evangeline Lawrence, civic chairman; Mrs. C. L. Rutherford, settlement chairman; Mrs. Harry J. Mautz, health chairman; Mrs. George Turney Myers, patroness chairman, and Mrs. J. W. Parland, membership chairman.

Cuticura Heals Eczema On Child's Head and Body

"Our little girl had a breaking out of eczema when she was three months old. It started with a rash on her head and spread to her body. The irritation caused her to scratch, and scratching caused eruptions which later scaled over. Her hair was thin and lifeless, and her clothing aggravated the breaking out, causing her to cry. She was very fretful and could not sleep. The trouble lasted until she was four years old.

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. After using it I purchased more, which healed her." (Signed) Mrs. Cora Crider, Rt. 1, Brink Haven, Ohio.

Daily use of Cuticura Soap, with touches of Cuticura Ointment now and then, keeps the skin fresh, smooth and clear. Cuticura Talcum also is ideal for the skin.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.

CHAPTER SEVEN

"IT'S my sister," said the girl slowly. "She's being kept a prisoner and I've come to get her out."

"A prisoner?"

"Oh, not in jail. In my—in a country house in New England. My father's an autocrat. He thinks we're puppets and ought never to move unless he pulls the string. He's always been like that. Mother's never thought for herself, nor decided anything for herself, since she married him. But then, she's never wanted to. She's a soft, pussy-cat sort of woman, perfectly contented to sit on a silk cushion by the fire and purr, and she thinks we ought to do it, too—as far as she thinks at all. Father provides nice fat cushions and a warm fire—and plenty of ice in summer. He's a good provider. I admit that. He's generous to everybody he approves of. But he wants to order everything his way. He can't see any other. I wouldn't be ordered, so there was a terrible quarrel and I've been supporting myself for two years."

"You have? How?"

"Honesty," she returned, with the ghost of a twinkle. "I'm building up quite a business in Paris as guide, interpreter, and shopping expert for plutocratic American women who don't speak fluent French. My sister's younger than I. She's only seventeen, so you see she's a minor. And she's not like me. I have a hard streak in me, like father. That's the reason I could fight him. But she's tender and sweet and much too sensitive. She's crushable—and he's crushing her. I can't stand it. I won't have her life ruined!"

'Whats' he doing to her?'

"She and mother were abroad this summer. They didn't come to Paris, because I live there and they're not allowed to speak to me. I heard they were in London, though, and went over, and managed to see C'e—to see my sister on the sly. Mother didn't know anything about it. On the steamer going over they met a young Frenchman, a mining engineer who lives in Mexico, and he and my sister fell madly in love with each other. He's a charming fellow, good family and all that, but he hasn't any money to speak of—yet. He's only twenty-six. Of course mother didn't do anything—she never does—except to write to father, and he came raging over on the next steamer to lay down the law.

"He caught Pierre and my sister together and there was a terrible scene. Pierre out of the hotel, and as he's a Father said she was a silly little fool, and no daughter of his should marry a penniless foreigner and go to live in Mexico. She defied him, for the first time in her life, and father almost lost his mind. He told her she was ungrateful and undutiful and unnatural and a disgrace—and remember he's done her thinking and choosing for her all her life, and she's sensitive and tractable. When he had about reduced her to pulp, he threatened to kick Pierre out of the hotel, and as he's a big man he could have done it. So Pierre left.

"Father brought the family home and Pierre came on the same steamer. He wrote me about the rest of it. He says my sister was locked in her stateroom all the way over. He tried to bribe the stewards, to take a note to her, but father had fixed them, so probably she never knew that Pierre was there. When they got here he lost them, but found out after a while that father had taken them to a house he owns in New England—an isolated summer place off in the woods. He'd had a barbed-wire fence put all around the property and bought some savage dogs, and my sister's never allowed to be out of the house alone, not even in the garden. That's the only way we know she's still holding out. Pierre went up there, but he couldn't get word through to her and never saw her. Everybody has been warned against him and they're all afraid of father. And there she is!"

"H'mph. Regular medieval stuff."

"Patriarchal! Father's an anachronism."

"Where's the Frenchman?"

"In Mexico. Something went wrong at the mine and he had to go down and straighten it out. Anyway, he's been brought up to respect parental authority, and thinks there's nothing to do except wait until she's of age. I don't mind that part of it. She IS too young to marry. What I can't stand is to have father bully her into submission—and he will. She's never tried to stand out against him before, and if she fails this time she'll never try again. At her age and with her disposition he can break her, and he's set about doing it. He thinks that everybody who disagrees with him ought to be broken. He's like that in business, too—a rule-or-ruin sort of person. Maybe I'm not making him convincing—but he is."

"He's convincing, all right. Sounds a good deal like G. A."

"G. A.?"

"Short for God Almighty. There's a man we do business with who's like that. I never saw him myself, but the fellows in his office call him G. A."

"Then where does the detective person come in?"

"I don't know. Unless father found out somehow that I was coming. Nobody knew it, except Pierre and—one other man, and neither of them would tell him."

Piggy thought that a chap who failed to show up on his wedding day might be guilty of almost anything, but he kept that reflection to himself and she went on:

"I landed at Quebec because I was afraid somebody I know might see me on the dock here. I've lived in New York all my life until two years ago and know lots of people here, but I can't trust any of them with this, you see. Father must have found out. At first, I thought perhaps he'd sent you. That was one reason why I was so nervous. He won't interfere with me unless I try to reach my sister, though he may spirit her away somewhere; but he'll know everything I do and everywhere I go, unless I can slip away from that man. He's standing out there now, watching."

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain Tow To Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.—Adv.

BRAID CURLYCUES GIVE CHARACTER TO CREPE FROCK

Trimming devices for dresses are various and interesting. The chic little dress pictured uses a simple device of curlycues of gold braid at the waist to give it distinction. This braid has the effect of a girdle placed rather high.

The frock is fashioned of crepe satin in a jungle green shade. The neck is cut Vishape and a scarf collar is lined with gold and makes a graceful, jabotlike drape at the left side, the lower part being adorned with buttons.

Quicksands of Love

BY ADELE GARRISON

JACK LESLIE'S APPEARANCE

SO cruel a thing is prejudice that when I saw Mrs. Baker, the curiosity-ridden lodger from the fourth floor, fall almost at Mary Harrison's feet in an apparent swoon, I stood motionless for a few seconds trying to decide whether her unconsciousness was genuine or feigned in order to scrape an acquaintance with Mary.

Mary, however, had not been so dilatory. As the woman fell, she rushed forward, kneeled down, gently turned the woman's face upward and looked at it intently. Then she stood up swiftly and took off her coat, with the patent intention of putting it under the woman's head. I knew then that Mrs. Baker's fall had resulted in a swoon, not simple dizziness, and I hurried toward Mary with quick remorse in my heart.

Someone was before me, however, a young man, who, dressed according to the last word of the men's wear advice column, and swinging a stick, emerged from the path opposite mine. Seeing the fainting woman, he broke into a run, dropping his stick with a clatter on the concrete walk as he did so. It was a pleasing picture of strong young manhood rushing to the aid of women in distress, but even as my hand was raised to put aside the bushes which separated me from the group, I recognized the rescuing knight, and stepped back, noiselessly, with a swift mental warning to wait before I emerged and confronted him.

For it was Jack Leslie who stood there, Jack Leslie, the cabaret dancer, whom Dicky once had dubbed the "capering cockroach," and whose admiring glances at Mary and evident determination to meet her, I had been able to thwart when Dicky's young niece first came to us.

What Will Leslie Say?

So strong was my aversion to this youth that my natural impulse was the primitive one to sweep him from Mary's path as I would an insect. But a second, surer instinct held me silent, watchful. I did not know for what I was watching—but my reason told me that it was queer caprice which had brought the cabaret entertainer to the park at this early hour in the morning. He must have danced all night, for Dicky had said that the night club where he worked did not dismiss the last of its patrons until daylight, and no stress of my imagination could picture a walk through a park as the relaxation which Jack Leslie would take at this hour. A drive in an open car, yes—but a walk—never! Yet the only other explanation which came to me was so far-fetched and fanstastic that I scored my imagination savagely for running wild.

Nevertheless, I obeyed the instinct to remain hidden and play for once the loathsome role of the eavesdropper. No matter what had brought Jack Leslie to the park, I knew that if I should suddenly appear on the scene, he immediately would be upon his guard. I knew him to be thoroughly unprincipled from the condemnation of both Dicky and Philip Veritzen. That he was cruel, I had seen myself at the restaurant where I witnessed his encounter with young Noel Veritzen whom rumor said he had so cruelly wronged.

With deep misgiving I had noticed the unholy admiration in his eyes for Mary upon the day she had asked me his identity. So with fingers unconsciously clenched into my palms I waited, tense, alert, for the dancer's first words, resolving to miss no inflection, no facial expression which might give a clew to his presence in the park at this particular moment.

What Are You Studying?

HISTORY, mathematics, literature, languages, science? In your whole curriculum, there is no lesson more important than how to guard your health. Long after your hard-won French vocabulary is forgotten, you will be putting into daily practice—if you are wise—the rules of health.

School work, with its continual studying, its sports, dances and social affairs demands a vigorous body. How discouraging it is to miss the good times. And sometimes, how unnecessary.

First of all, then, learn the lesson of health. Find out what fresh air will do, exercise, sleep and proper food. Many school girls have learned that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped them to find the health they needed and has made their school days happier.

"I gave my fifteen year old daughter, Louise, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it did her a wonderful lot of good. She had been out of school for four months. I read the advertisements of the Vegetable Compound, and since she has taken it she has improved and has gone back to school again. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to other mothers with girls who are not as strong as they should be."

Is your appetite gone?

REMEMBER, how it used to be when you could hardly wait for mealtime? And then, sit down and eat several helpings of everything—enjoy every morsel and get up from the table feeling satisfied with the World, happy with everybody and ready for anything.

But what a difference in living when even the sight and smell of food sickens you! Never hungry—no matter how tempting the food is—nothing tasting right. And then, after nibbling at a few bites, feeling worse than ever.

Oh, life is hardly worth living this way. And yet, all in the World the matter with you is that you are starving for rich, red blood. It is acknowledged everywhere that S. S. S. helps Nature build these healthy red-blood-cells by the millions!

All you need to do to get back that wonderful appetite is to build rich, red-blood-cells with S. S. S. It's simple. Just try it, like thousands are doing every day. See for yourself what S. S. S. will do.

S. S. S. means blood with a punch—brimful of new life and energy. Get your S. S. S. at any good druggist. The larger size is more economical.

DOOMED SLAYER MAKES ATTACK ON OFFICIALS

Tear Gas Used To Subdue Convicted Murderer on Way to Gallows

Butte, Mont., Oct. 1—With the fury and strength of a maniac, Tony Vetters, convicted of the murder of three men in Butte last November, launched an attack on his guards here early today when they came to take him from his cell to the gallows.

Vetters was finally subdued after tear gas was poured into his cell from all sides until he became unconscious. His legs and arms were then strapped as he lay on the floor, but on being pushed between two guards on his way to the execution chamber, he regained consciousness sufficiently to vehemently curse his guards, dying with a curse upon his lips.

Vetters dropped to his death at 12:28 o'clock and six minutes later was pronounced dead by jail officials. When Under Sheriff D. O. Robinson entered the cell to lead Vetters out to hear the death warrant, the latter produced from his clothing a three-foot piece of pipe which he hurled at the officer.

Use Tear Gas

As Robinson backed from the cell, Vetters pursued him with a crude knife fashioned from a spoon. Other officers rushed to Robinson's aid but were held back by the furious attack of the prisoner.

Two small tanks of tear gas were brought into play. Screaming like a mad man and with a fiendish expression on his face, Vetters was backed into his cell. For a quarter of an hour the spray of gas was poured over him until he fell unconscious.

Vetters was convicted of the slaying of Antone Favero, Joseph Ciccodelli and John Deranja, who he is alleged to have ambushed and killed with a shotgun in East Butte. He protested his innocence to the last.

Highway Engineer Grover Snyder of this city.

When Attorney Moloney stated that he would endeavor to show the jury that the highway department was guilty of conspiracy and hatred against Aller, former Judge Grant E. Mouser, assisting Prosecutor Frank Wiedemann in the trial, objected on the grounds that such evidence had no bearing on the case. Judge Wright sustained the objection.

Indications at noon today were that the trial would continue tonight and Saturday. Judge Wright, who is presiding at the trial, is scheduled for another county Monday and it will be necessary to bring the Aller trial to a close sometime Saturday. In order to accomplish this, it is probable that the case will be continued until late tonight.

lic welfare enterprises in Middletown and every three years directs the raising of a fund which is used for financing community projects and relief organizations. Through the operation of this plan, all of the numerous drives and solicitation of funds which are necessary in many cities are eliminated, the one big campaign every three years solving the problem.

Plan Campaign

The date for the next campaign is near at hand and it was chiefly because of this circumstance that the Civic Association decided to send out its fact finding commission. All of the information gathered in the tour will be assembled and the Civic Association's program for the future mapped out accordingly before solicitation for the community fund is launched.

The commission was aided in making its survey here by members of the local Chamber of Commerce and other organizations. Accompanied by the local men, commission members visited various public officials and heads of different organizations, obtaining facts and figures regarding operation of the City Hospital, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Y. M. C. A., Salvation Army, Red Cross, public nursing service, Chamber of Commerce, Public Library, community parks and playgrounds and other branches of public service.

At noon, several representatives of the Marion Chamber of Commerce and other organizations lunched with the visitors at Hotel Harding.

The commission left Middletown Sunday in its special car "Mountain Valley" and has visited the cities in the order named: Zanesville, Steubenville, New Castle, Pa., Warren, Mansfield and Marion. The party arrived here early this morning and was received by a committee from the local Chamber of Commerce.

Personnel of Group

The commission personnel is as follows: J. W. Littell, president of the Middletown Retail Merchants' Board; Earl Price, president of Trades and Labor Council; Clayton Bailey, City Commissioner; L. A. Waldner, City Manager; E. T. McCue, secretary of the Lion's Club; E. T. Shough, representative of the Rotary Club; Henderson Estes, representative of the American Legion; Dr. G. D. Lummis, Medical Health Officer; C. G. Crist, president of the Real Estate Board; Charles Downey, president of the Amalgated Steel Workers; Charles Daley, representative of the Lion's Club; James Maines, representative of the Foremen's Club and "Y" Men's Club; P. G. Banker, secretary of the Civitan Club; E. L. Sterne, managing editor of the Middletown Journal; Paul J. Banker, city editor of the Middletown News Signal; Carl A. Wevat, director of the Bureau of Trade and Commerce of the Middletown Civic Association and E. A. Lempe, director of the Bureau of ex-Service Relief of the Civic Association.

Mr. Wevat is manager of the commission's tour and Mr. Lempe is serving as secretary.

The commission is divided into groups for the purpose of systematizing the survey being made during the tour. These groups come under the headings of Public Health, Character Building, Commercial and Industrial and Community Recreation and T. T. Shough is acting in the capacity of statistician.

CAREFUL DRIVER TEARS DOOR FROM MOTORCAR

FIRE DESTROYS HOME OF H. B. SMITH, LOSS $3,500

Firemen Unable To Save Farm Residence; Property Partially Insured

Able only to use chemicals in fighting the flames, efforts of Fire Department No. 3, Market-st, were unavailing and the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Smith, Upper Sandusky-pk, near Crystal Lake Park was completely destroyed by fire at noon today.

Cause of the fire is unknown. The only fire within the house at the time was in a kitchen oil stove. The fire however, was breaking out through the roof when first discovered about 12 o'clock by Mrs. Smith, returning home from a neighboring residence.

Her calls for help soon brought the entire neighborhood to the scene. The fire department was summoned immediately. Chief T. J. McFarland also answered the call. The absence of a water supply considerably handicapped the work of the firemen. With the exhaustion of the chemical supply the department was entirely without means to longer fight the flames.

Neighbors and spectators removed all furniture from the structure. H. W. Smith, father of the owner, was the only person in the home at the time of the fire. At no time was he in danger and escaped safely.

Mr. Smith estimated the fire damage at $3500 a part of which is covered by insurance. He is employed as a butcher by George W. Smith, Fairground and Main-sts and was not at home at the time of the fire.

FORMER MARION BALL PLAYER DIES IN CANTON

Harry "Hezzy" Breymaier Succumbs While Working in Canton Rolling Mills

Friends in Marion today received word of the death of Harry "Hezzy" Breymaier, 43, Canton, well known professional baseball player and former catcher with Marion and Mansfield in the Ohio State League.

Breymaier had reported to his work at a rolling mills in Canton yesterday and seemed in his usual good health. Death overtook him while he was engaged in the day's regular routine. The cause of death has not been received here.

"Hezzy," that being the name by which he was known to thousands of fan admirers, had a colorful career on the diamond. His first experience in the game was at Bucyrus, his hometown. For years, he played on Bucyrus clubs and with teams of nearby towns. Later he engaged in play with semi-pro league teams and served as catcher for the Lawrence, Mass. Club, of the Massachusetts League and the Saginaw Club of the Michigan-Wisconsin League.

Though 43 years of age, this season still found him active on the ball lot and playing regularly with the Mansfield club in the Ohio-Pennsylvania league.

Those surviving are his widow, Daisy, three children, Mary, Isabel, and James, all at home, his father, Stephen, two brothers, Arthur and August, and four sisters, Mrs. Cora Shultz, Mrs. Ella Smethers, Mrs. Lizzie Scheib, all of Bucyrus and Mrs. August Watkins, New York City.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at one o'clock at Canton. Burial at Canton.

Williamson, W. Va., Oct. 1—Mystery surrounds the slaying here today of Deputy Sheriff Reilly Hall, of Mingo County, whose body was riddled with bullets by assassins who ambushed the officer as he stepped from his house.

Police officials believe that Hall, who owned extensive farm properties in the Pigeon Creek section, may have been murdered by enemies he had made through his aggressive enforcement of the laws.

DOCTOR SAYS DEMPSEY WAS "SELF-POISONED"

Verdict Given Out by Physician Following Examination in New York Hotel

New York, Oct. 1—Jack Dempsey was "self-poisoned" on the night of Sept. 23, and therefore was not capable of putting up his best performance when he lost the heavyweight title.

This was the verdict rendered today by Dr. Frank H. Russell, attending physician, following an examination of the former champion in his suite at the Hotel Belmont shortly after noon today.

Dr. Russell found his patient "very much improved," and predicted he would be able to leave quarters within a day or two if he wished.

3 BAD MEN
THRILLS!
In this compelling story of conflict between men in the frantic land rush of 1877, there is keen love interest as well as strong dramatic action. All the exciting scenes are interwoven with daring feats of horsemanship—thrilling stage coach driving—realistic fights, and as a foil, there is the spectacle of three of the wickedest bad men being tamed by the innocence of a defenseless girl. 3 Bad Men fairly bristles with action.

KADGAR GROTTO BAND PREPARES FOR STATE MEET

Organization To Play Prominent Part in Program in Columbus Saturday

The Kadgar Grotto Band of 55 pieces is the best known musical organization of its kind in the state.

Get Rid of Vile Dandruff in a Week

New Discovery Will Do It or Carl G. Ungericht Drug Stores Will Refund the Purchase Price.

You are warring for this delightful way of disgusting dandruff from hair and scalp in one week or less, if it so thoroughly that it never returns. The name is Dandex.

You may be so certain men that you'll never have dandruff flakes on your coat collar any more that you can stop worrying right away.

Dandex is great stuff. Men—it is a wonderful hair dressing. It stops the scalp from itching—your hair will cease to fall out—hair getting scanty will thicken and grow luxuriant. Not even that Dandex is a perfect dressing that makes the hair lustrous and smartly attractive.

Try one bottle men and if you are not delightfully satisfied Carl G. Ungericht Drug Store or any druggist or toilet goods counter will return your money.

Dandex is a hair saver and the time to save your hair is when you have hair to save.—Adv.

held final rehearsal at the Masonic Temple here Thursday evening in preparation for its participation in the elaborate program arranged for the annual state Grotto meeting to be held in Columbus, Saturday.

A program by the Marion Band will be broadcast from WAIU station in Columbus, from 10:30 to 11 o'clock Saturday night and the local musicians will also take part in a massed concert to be given on the statehouse grounds at 3:30 in the afternoon with all of the 11 Grotto bands in the state participating. Bertram D. Myers is director of the local band.

Announcement of final arrangements for tomorrow's program was made today by Lewis F. Bailer, monarch of Kadgar Grotto, following receipt of a communication from Harry F. Apple, head of Achbar Grotto in Columbus.

Marion Participants

Several hundred Marion people, including members of the Marion Grotto and their families are expected to participate in the program of entertainment planned for the event. Most of the Marion party will leave at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning on a special C., D. & M. chair car chartered for the occasion. The delegation will assemble at the Masonic Temple at 8:30 and march to the interurban station, headed by Kadgar Grotto band.

In the letter received from the monarch of the Columbus Grotto, Thursday, the local organization was informed that all of the 19 Grottoes of the state will be represented by large delegations and that the meeting is certain to be one of the largest in history. A feature of the program will be exhibition drills by the various uniformed organizations at 4:30 o'clock.

Program for Women

Special arrangements are being made for the entertainment of women visitors during the afternoon and evening. Included are plans for auto rides, dinner and a theater party.

The C., D. & M. Electric Co. has granted a special round trip fare of $1 to members of Kadgar Grotto and their families. Tickets will be good on all interurban cars Saturday, but it is expected that the larger part of the local delegation will make the trip on the chartered car leaving here at 9 o'clock. Others are expected to make the trip in automobiles. Kadgar Grotto has a membership of approximately 500 but many of these live at points distant from Marion and will be unable to attend the state gathering.

Arrangements for Marion's participation in the meeting are in charge of a committee made up of R. C. Williamson, Harold Grigsby and John Gano.

Elasticity in Public Opinion Seen as German Starts Paper in Paris

PARIS, Oct. 1—One of the signs of the elasticity of public opinion in these swift moving days is the reopening of a German newspaper in Paris, the first to appear since the war. H. Delestree, the editor of the "Neue Pariser Zeitung" is going about his business with careful diplomacy, devoting much of his space to praising the hospitality of Paris toward German tourists whose numbers have greatly increased here within the last few months. Under the circumstances the "Pariser Zeitung" cannot be an organ of opinion, serving primarily as a touch of home for touring Germans. But the fact of its publication, whatever the content, is in itself significant.

DARTMOUTH HEAD DIES

Hanover, N. H., Oct. 1—Dr. William Jewett Tucker, the man who as president of Dartmouth college for 16 years transformed that educational institution from a small unknown New England college to one known and respected over the world, died at his home here late today at the age of 87. He has been an invalid since he resigned the presidency of Dartmouth in 1909.

A man may lead a double life, but they bury both of him in the same grave.

To have to play second fiddle in the presence of greater men in grudge enough for some.

CZECHS REWRITE ANTHEM IN MINORITY LANGUAGES

zPrague, Oct. 1—The nationaal minorities of Czecho-Slovakia are to be let in on their national anthem "Kde domov muj." Till now the anthem has been written and sung in Czech only and is confined to a vocal glorification of the Czechs. Few of the four million other nationals in the country do know the words or meaning of their national song.

The government has decided to rewrite the song to make it representative of all the peoples, that is Czechs, Slovaks, Germans, Hungarians and Poles. It will be published in various languages and posted throughout the country.

The Last and Greates Novel by

W. L. GEORGE

CHILDREN of the MORNING

SUPPOSE your children, with the little training you had been able to give them, were cast away with other children on a desert island with no other guidance in forming their character than their own instincts and desires .... What do you suppose they would do? How would they learn life's secrets? What new basis of right and wrong would they establish for themselves? Would they, for instance, find a new basis for the sex relationship?

These and a hundred other interesting speculations are the basis of the great novel which the most widely read English novelist completed just before he died. It has never been published before. Its absolutely startling and revolutionary theme will make it the most widely read and discussed book of the year. Nothing like it has ever been attempted in the history of literature.

A group of children, ranging in age from six to eight years, thrown together in a lifeboat from a sinking ship, arrive at an uninhabited island. Their background, their training, even their languages are different. How they evolved a civilization, with no guide save their dim memories of early habits, makes the most fascinating theme ever dealt with in an imaginative work.

The story thrillingly records what these children did and how they worked out their strange destinies. It is being published for the first time EXCLUSIVELY by the

TELEPHONE MEN ASSEMBLE HERE FOR MEETING

Guests of Marion County Telephone Co. at Hotel Harding Luncheon

Representatives of six independent telephone companies in this vicinity and officials of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. held a joint meeting in Marion today as guests of the Marion County Telephone Co.

The gathering was held in the interest of better service to subscribers of both the independent and the Bell companies. Closer cooperation between the independents and the Bell was stressed during the meeting.

Owing to the fact that the Bell company with its larger operating territory has met practically all the problems that face a telephone company, the principal talks during the meeting were made by Bell representatives.

Berry Chairman

A. J. Berry, general manager of the Marion company, acted as chairman of the gathering.

L. J. House, of Columbus, special agent of the division commercial superintendent of the Ohio Bell, made the principal talk along commercial lines during the day. He told of business practices of his organization and pointed out how the independent companies and the Ohio Bell, all working together, could provide better toll and local services to their subscribers.

Mrs. Kyda Johnson, district traffic instructor, of Springfield, talked on training operators, both local and long distance. She pointed out to the chief operators present that some girls make better toll operators than local operators. She urged that the girls best fitted for the various positions be selected.

Talks on Transmission

A. F. Sailor, of Columbus, representing the Bell southern division plant department, talked on transmission and plant maintenance. He told how voice transmission losses occur and suggested remedies. He said that proper plant maintenance will result in better talking conditions for all subscribers.

E. H. Blyth, of Cleveland, of the general accounting department of the Ohio Bell, discussed accounting problems as they jointly affected his company and the independnt companies. He laid special emphasis on the manner of billing toll messages.

During the afternoon session moving pictures tracing the development of the telephone from its invention fifty years ago to the present were shown.

The gathering was held in Hotel Harding and at noon a dinner was served those in attendance.

Independent companies represented at the gathering included the Citizens' Telephone company, of Delaware, the Morrow County Telephone Company of Mt. Gilead, the Caledonia Telephone company, the LaRue Telephone company, and the Prospect Telephone company.

$500,000,000 SURPLUS FOR NATION IN 1927

Huge Figure Seen If Tax Collection Continues at Present Rate

Washington, Oct. 1—Federal tax collections for the first quarter of the 1927 fiscal year, and heavy gains in customs receipts have given Democratic advocates of a tax reduction at the next congress strong arguments to support their program.

If the present rate of increase in tax and customs collections is maintained throughout the year ending June 30, 1927, the government will hang up a surplus of over $500,000,000 according to figures available at the treasury today.

The American taxpayer should be given the advantage of such a huge excess of receipts over expenditures according to democratic congressional leaders. They plan a vigorous fight for reduction at the oncoming session, and charge the republicans with seeking to delay it only so it can be accomplished at the next session—just prior to the presidential election.

Treasury officials, however, indicated that Secretary of the Treasury Mellon would continue to oppose any material slash of rates.

MAN FINED $100 FOR DRIVING INTOXICATED

Homer Reynolds of the Georgian Apartments, S. State-st, arrested about 4 o'clock Thursday morning on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated, pleaded guilty when arraigned before Mayor Earl R. Hazen, Friday, and was fined $100. He paid and was released. Reynolds was taken into custody while driving his car on E. Center-st near the Midway restaurant.

Optometric Society Names Van Wert for Next Meeting at Kenton Zone Convention

Three Course Dinner Opens Session; Dr. Frank Stengel, Marion, Extends Greeting to Members from National President of Organization

Kenton, Oct. 1—Optometrists of zone ten of the Ohio Optometric Association selected Van Wert as their October convention city, at their successful meeting held here Thursday night.

The gathering, one of a series held by the various zone organizations of the state during the year, was attended by a large number of optometrists and their ladies from Franklin, Allen, Auglaize, Hancock, Hardin, Logan, Mercer, Paulding, Putnam, Shelby, Van Wert, Wyandot, Crawford, Richland, Ashland, Marion, Knox and Morrow counties.

The program following a three-course dinner was given over chiefly to addresses by prominent optometrists of the state and to leaders in the Ohio Association, who stressed the necessity for organization and emphasized the high plane to which optometry has been elevated as a profession.

A message of greetings from Walter Kimble, St. Joseph, Mo., president of the National Optometric Association, was extended the meeting by Dr. Fred Stengel, Marion, former national official and a member of the state optometric board.

Guy E. Bradley, Kenton, presided over arrangements for the dinner and meeting with the assistance of other local optometrists, while Dr. R. D. Mundhenk, Lima, zone ten governor, served as chairman of the program. James H. Allen, Jr., president of the Kenton chamber of commerce, welcomed the visitors, the response being given by Dr. A. C. CnJacobs, Lima, president of the state association.

During the course of his talk Dr. CnJacobs announced the post-graduate clinical course which Dr. A. M. Skeffington is to conduct in Lima during the week of Oct. 17. Optometrists from many sections of the state are enrolling in the clinic. Preceding the Lima meeting Dr. Skellington is conducting similar courses in St. Louis and Cincinnati.

"Optometry as a profession has made rapid progress in the last decade", President CnJacobs said. "It has passed entirely from a merchandising business into the professional line." He admonished all members to keep abreast of the progress in the profession.

Dr. P. C. Harris, Columbus, secretary of the state optometry board, said in his address that 1291 registered optometrists are now established throughout Ohio. Lauding zone meetings he declared that organization among optometrists means progress. Dr. Clarence R. Ellis, Mansfield, member of the faculty of Ohio State University school of applied optics, spoke briefly of the healthy growth of the work in the state school and of the elaborate program of instruction mapped out for student optometrists.

Others who spoke on the program were: Dr. R. P. McDonald, Wapakoneta, first vice-president of the state association, Dr. Fred Stengle, Marion, Dr. Guy Bradley, Dr. William Kraus, Dr. W. R. Pfefferle and Dr. Margaret Gorrell all of Kenton.

OFFICERS RAID SCHOOLHOUSE LIQUOR CACHE

Booze Destroyed When Owners Fail To Appear During Vigil Kept by Police

Kenton, Oct. 1—Twenty-eight gallons of liquor found stored away in an abandoned school house near Alger, west of here, were destroyed by Hardin county officials yesterday after a well laid plan to apprehend the owners, failed.

The liquor had been stored in large containers and was believed to have been left at the school house until the owner could find an opportunity to remove it.

Acting on the theory that the rum had just been stored in the building and that the owners would show up without delay to carry it away, Marshal Ray Lawrence of Alger, and a constable lay in ambush for many hours in the vicinity of the school. After their long vigil proved fruitless they notified Sheriff George Berlien here, and the booty was destroyed.

Discovery of the large cache was made by the farmer on whose land the school is located. Earlier in the season he filled the building with hay and returned the forepart of the week to repair the windows. It was then that he ran across the filled containers.

MARRIED 50 YEARS AGO TODAY

Friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Wittred, Claridon, will attend a reception this evening to pay respects on their Golden Wedding Day.

Claridon Couple Observe 50th Wedding Anniversary

The family, relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Wittred are today extending felicitations and congratulations at their home in Claridon, the date being that of their 50th wedding anniversary.

The residence from seven-thirty o'clock until nine tonight will be the scene of a reception given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Wittred. Open house will be maintained during the hours named and all friends and acquaintances of the couple have been invited to pay respects at this time.

The reception will follow a dinner served at six o'clock to which members of the immediate family and close friends have been invited. The affairs of the day have been arranged entirely without the knowledge of Mr. and Mrs. Wittred and many pleasant surprises are in store for them.

The husband is 81 years of age, being born in Lynn, Norfolk county, England, in 1845. He immigrated to the United States in 1857 and located in Marion county, residing in the county ever since. He engaged in farming near Claridon until 20 years ago, when the Wittred residence was taken up at Caledonia, the couple moving to Claridon about 10 years ago.

Mrs. Wittred was born near Mt. Gilead in 1858 and has lived in Marion and Morrow counties all her life. Her maiden name was Ida Claggett.

The couple was married on Oct. 1, 1858.

Among the members of the family and relatives attending the dinner and reception tonight are three sons and their families, W. P. Wittred, 644 E. Church-st, Mrs. Harry Wittred, Claridon, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wittred, Claridon, and one daughter, Mrs. Clem Nietch, southeast of Marion, 11 grandchildren, and two brothers of Mrs. Wittred, Frank Claggett, Edison, and James Claggett, Iowa.

FUNERAL FOR MRS. SPAIN AT MARYSVILLE TODAY

One of Union County's Oldest and Most Respected Residents Claimed by Death

Marysville, Oct. 1—Funeral services for Mrs. Eliza Spain, aged 91 years, and one of Union County's oldest and best known residents, were held at the L. H. Miller Funeral Home, here today. Rev. G. C. Kennedy, pastor of the M. E. Church, had charge of the services and interment was made in Oakdale Cemetery. Death was caused by the infirmities of age.

The deceased was born west of Marysville, a daughter of Tobias and Sarah Beightler, September, 1835. On May 14, 1860, she was married to John W. Spain, who died several years ago. They were the parents of four children who are as follows: Mrs. D. A. Cross and Jesse Spain, and Mrs. Lou Bowersmith, of Marysville and a son residing in Columbus. Twenty-four grandchildren, 22 greatgrandchildren and one great grandchild also survive. Besides these she also leaves a host of friends and more distance relatives, who mourn her passing.

Placed Under Bond

Hadley Young, a former Marysville man, being held here on a charge of forgery, was arraigned before Common Pleas Judge E. W. Porter, yesterday, and entered a plea of not guilty to the charge filed against him. He was placed under a $1500 bond which he has not furnished.

Edward Magrew, of Delaware County, held here on a similar charge, also pleaded not guilty to the charges and was placed under a bond of $1,000, which he could not furnish.

Will Probated

The last will and testament of Chloe M. Mason, late of Richwood, was probated yesterday. The document witnessed by Percy H. Sanders and George W. Lee, was drawn July 2, 1924. A son, William Owen Mason, was named as executor and was appointed by the court under $1,000 bond.

The testatrix provides that all her estate after payment of debts and funeral expenses be given to her husband, Lewis B. Mason, and empowers him to give deed for part or all of the property without court's order. At his death the remainder of the estate is to be divided as follows: Donald L. Spicer, adopted son of her daughter, Orpha Imogene Spicer, $1; to his son, Owen Mason, three-fourths of the estate; to an heir of her deceased daughter, Georgia Adell Boggs, one-fourth of the estate. All household goods are to be divided between the heirs of the deceased daughter.

Admitted to Probate

The will of the late David V. Wyeth, of Broadway, has been admitted to probate. The document was dated May 2, 1925 and was witnessed by L. H. Collins and Cary Collins. Chester Wyeth is named as executor.

The testator gives to his wife, Ada Wyeth, his farm in Taylor township, located on the Kenton pike. At her death the same is to be divided in equal shares among the children. She is also to receive all of the other property. The heirs are as follows: Chester Wyeth, of Broadway; Marie Lockwood, of Logan County; Thomas Wyeth and Leila Wyeth of Broadway.

Suit Settled

A suit for $10,300 which was filed some time ago against Mrs. Martha Wise, commonly known as the "Poison Widow" of Medina, has been settled in the courts there giving the plaintiff, Fred H. Hazel, a judgment of $250. This action will prevent Mrs. Wise from being taken to Medina court to testify in the case. Mrs. Wise is serving a life sentence near here for the poisoning of two relatives.

Brooks Fletcher Speaks at Kiwanis Club Meeting and Mt. Gilead School Chapel

Address Given by Students; "What Have You on Your Mind?" and "The Commercial Value of Good Will" Are Subjects

Mt. Gilead, Oct. 1—Congressman [illegible] of Marion, was the High School chapel speaker, spoke to the class following chapel, to Mt. Gilead Kiwanis [illegible] by singing American [illegible] E. J. Fitchhorn, following school song, which [illegible] Louise Wieland, the When Congressman [illegible] by Supt. P. E. school gave him a [illegible] enthusiastic cheer.

[illegible] took for his subject, [illegible] On Your Mind?" The [illegible] the school the fact [illegible] person will be in the [illegible] upon his thinking of [illegible] to raise himself from [illegible] of improvement and [illegible] he can do it only by [illegible] into it. The person [illegible] is one who has thought—who has used his mind; while the person who remains in obscurity is the one who has not used his faculties.

The speaker gave a wealth of illustrations of people who have attained distinction and showed that they did so by having a definite goal and thinking about it. He discussed the importance of psychology in life and explained how laboratory experiments are contributing to progress.

The importance of public speaking as a practical matter was the substance of Mr. Fletcher's talk to the class in public speaking. He stated that never before in the history of the world was there such a demand for accomplished public speakers.

A number of famous statesmen and public men were cited and attention called to the fact that their chief claim to fame depends upon their oratory.

"The Commercial Value of Goodwill," was Mr. Fletcher's theme in addressing the Kiwanis Club, at its weekly noonday luncheon meeting at the Globe Hotel.

Mr. Fletcher emphasized that he did not consider the monetary value of goodwill to be the chief end or justification, but merely wished to demonstrate that even from a monetary point of view good fellowship and goodwill were desirable.

He emphasized the importance of goodwill in business and especially in advertising. The speaker cited illustrations in which the lack of fellowship and courtesy cost many dollars and the loss of business.

He pleaded for goodwill and fellowship in business, in our relations with each other, in our international relations and especially in polites.

Fast Central Ohio League Teams Clash Here Saturday

Marietta Breaks Into Ohio Conference Saturday by Meeting Oberlin

Shelby, Resting This Week, Watches Six Other Circuit Elevens Battle for Lead

Harding May Be First To Score on Galion Favorites; Mansfield Visits Big Bucyrus Eleven; Ashland Will Be Playing Another League Game at Delaware

HARDING HIGH'S three football squads practiced last night for the first home North Central Ohio League game to music furnished by the newly organized Red and Black Band which appeared under the direction of H. M. Temple. The band will appear in public for the first time at the Galion-Harding game Saturday when they will wear their new military uniforms.

The practice last night was plenty fast for the teams. Scrimmage was cut to the bone on account of the rocky condition of the Central Junior High field.

Men were busy at the fairgrounds all day yesterday erecting new bleachers which are being placed on each side of the field to accommodate 1,500 or more fans at the Galion-Harding game Saturday. The game will be called at 2:30 o'clock.

Season tickets, good for all home games including Saturday's game, are being placed on sale today by teachers and students at Harding High.

Arrangements are being made so that tickets may be purchased at The Marion Star office and other downtown business places.

Galion Has Advantage

Galion High may have just a little advantage over the locals. Galion has not permitted two teams to score this season, winning its first game, 19 to 0, from Crestline and then sending Ashland home scoreless, 6 to 0, last Saturday in the first game in the league.

Harding High has only played one game and lost that one 2 to 0 at Columbus Central last Saturday on a safety after holding the winners for downs on the Red and Black's half-yard line. Harding has a strong defensive team and from what we could learn this week have been specializing just a little on some offensive plays. Shifts were working fairly well last night.

3—SHELBY

Probable line-up for Saturday's game:

Harding		Galion
Schultz	LE	Zinn
McElroy	LT	Delbig
Cook	LG	Everly
Kramer	C	Wiener
Malo	RG	McClure
Rinnert	RT	Cohen
R. Merchant	RE	Hershner
W. Merchant	Q	Young
Houghton	RH	D. Hersh
Tuttle	LH	J. Young
Born (C)	F	(C) Cutshall

Other Harding High men who will appear in uniform: McAnich, Lowe, Lewis, Perry, Morrison, Wonsencr, Smith, Hinklin.

Records the last five seasons favor Galion again. Galion has won four of the six annual games.

Just Records

1920—Harding 9, Galion 0.
1921—Harding 2, Galion 7.
1922—Harding 0, Galion 14.
1923—Harding 20, Galion 27.
1924—Harding 0, Galion 19.
1925—Harding 42, Galion 0.

"The slogan for the past four or five years has been 'Beat Galion.' Last year this slogan was handed down to the students and Harding beat Galion by the score of 42-0," says Sports Editor Harold Waddell in the Quiver. "Last year was the first year for four years that Harding High defeated Galion. The slogan, 'Beat Galion' was again handed down this year by Captain Jonnson of last year's football team.

"Ashland last year, who defeated Harding High and who tied for second place in the league was downed by Galion, the school Harding High walloped 42-0 last year. What will this mean for Harding High? Last year Galion had a 'green' team and had the next to lowest percentage in the league, but this year it is a different story, because Galion has ten letter men to work with by starting their season with a victory over Ashland. Things look pretty good for Galion's hopes," concludes Editor Waddell.

GALION WORKS OVERTIME

Galion, Oct. 1—The Galion High School Football squad after a week of intensive practice consisting of scrimmage and long signal drills are ready for their second league contest with Marion at the Marion Gridiron Saturday.

Galion will go into the Marion game with full vigor and fight.

Coach Eaton has made several experiments in changing the lineup.

Galion was defeated last year by the Marion team by a score of 49 to 0, but this year a different score is predicted.

A High School rally was held in the auditorium yesterday at 3 o'clock for the Marion game. It was held Thursday because there is no school today on account of the Crawford County Fair.

The toughest assignment Coach Dave Eaton and his "fighting Orangemen" have before them this week-end is their game with Harding High of Marion Saturday at Marion, says the Galion Enquirer.

Last evening's practice consisted of special attention being given to both the linesmen and the backfield. Coach Eaton dividing his time between the two sections, giving them pointers and keeping them at it. Eaton is still experimenting with his men, the most important is his use of Delbig, veteran tackle, at full in last night's practice which position he fills to good advantage. It is not known whether coach will use him at this position or not.

Harding Is Feared

Harding, which plays the first N. C. O. league game against the Orangemen, is always to be feared. At any rate with Eaton at the helm of the Orangemen, and Compton assisting Coach Sprout of Harding High all concerned are going to have their hands full Saturday, concludes the Enquirer.

SHELBY WATCHES OTHER LEAGUERS

Six out of the seven members of the North Central Ohio league will engage in games Saturday, Mansfield high playing at Bucyrus, Galion coming here and Ashland reporting to Delaware. Shelby, the other league team, has no N. C. O. contest scheduled for Oct. 2.

There promises to be a merry race for N.C.O. laurels this season. The teams showed strength Saturday. Mansfield lost to the strong Columbus North team by a 7-6 count, in a game that was won for three quarters until a pass upset Mansfield's chances of winning. Bucyrus handed Lima Central a 10-6 setback. Kish and his team mates surprising the district schools with such an early season victory. Monnett was the big star for Bucyrus, the speedy quarterback scoring the touchdown, kicking goal from placement afterward and later adding three points on a pretty boot. Mansfield will have to watch Monnett and Kish this Saturday.

YOUNGSTER GOES TO ST. LOUIS

Spartanburg has sold Second Baseman Jimmy Jordan to the St. Louis National league club. He reports after the Sally season. Jordan is twenty years old and has shown much promise both as hitter and fielder. This is his first year in league ball.

LOSING RECORDS BROKEN

Two clubs, Columbus in the American Association and Reading in the International League, are staging a race to see which can lose the most games over the entire season. Both have passed the century mark in defents. Reading looks well on it sway to a new losing record.

TWENTY-THIRD SERIES FIGHT OPENS SATURDAY

Red Sox Won First Flag in 1903 from Pirates

New York, Oct. 1—The world's series scheduled to begin tomorrow will be the twenty-third of the annual struggles for baseball supremacy between the pennant winners of the National and American Leagues. The first of these series was played back in 1903 when the Red Sox defeated the Pirates by five games to three. With the exception of 1904, when the New York Nationals declined to play the Boston Americans, the series has been played annually. The Boston American League club won the first world's championship.

After the Boston team had won the American League championship in 1903, it challenged the Pittsburgh team, pennant winner of the National League to settle the supremacy of the two major leagues. The challenge was accepted and resulted in a victory for the Red Sox. The gate receipts for the eight games of this series was about $50,000, and 100,429 persons paid to see the contests. These figures were considered little short of marvelous at that time, but scarcely twenty years later the receipts for a world's series had passed the million-dollar mark.

Of the twenty-two series that have been played since 1903, the American League has won thirteen and the National League nine.

VIRGINIA WILSON BESTS CHAMPION IN THIRD ROUND

Four Women Are Evenly Matched in Today's Semi-Finals

Merion Cricket Club, Pa., Oct. 1—Only one of the four ladies who contested the semi-final round of the golf championship today has held the title, and as they are very evenly matched, today's games and the 36-hole final tomorrow should produce fine competition.

Miss Virginia Wilson, 20-year-old Chicago golfer, who defeated Miss Glenna Collett, the champion, in the third round, met Mrs. G. Henry Stetson, Philadelphia, in the upper half of the semi-finals and Mrs. Dwight Goss, Jr., Short Hills, N. J., met Mrs. Cartlandt Smith, Glen Ridge, N. J., in the lower half.

SCALPERS HOLD SERIES TICKETS

Tickets "All Gone" and 15,000 Fans Wait in Line

New York, Oct. 1—Infuriated subscribers for world series tickets, who have paid for seats that are not available, hounded the Yankee business office today. More than 15,000 fans have been unable to secure tickets. The ticket shortage gave rise to numerous rumors, chief among them one that a scandalous situation would be uncovered when speculators began to unload—at high prices—the vast numbers of reserved seat tickets they were said to possess.

At the Yankee business office, posters announced that all reserved seat tickets had been sold and that 38,000 grandstand and bleacher seats would be put on sale on the morning of games one, two and six, which are to be played in this city. Ed Barrow, business manager, was too busy to discuss the situation.

A report that Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, arbiter of the baseball world, had been unable to obtain a sufficient allotment of seats, was denied by the judge, who is at the Hotel Roosevelt.

"I probably have not had all the tickets I want for the minor leagues—they are entitled to them, you know—or for other people throughout the country," said the judge, "but I think I have enough to cover the demand."

He was asked whether he had heard a report that thousands of tickets had fallen into the hands of speculators. He said:

"A certain percentage of tickets for the world series inevitably fall into the hands of the scalpers. There does not seem to be any way to prevent it."

YANKEE PITCHERS ARE VETERAN SERIES MEN

SURE LOOKS GOOD
DUTCH REUTHER
HERB PENNOCK
BOB SHAWKEY
SURE HAVE TH' TOUGH LUCK
SHAWKEY IS THE SERIES VET. HAVING BEEN IN FOUR
McQUAID, BEALL, BRAXTON AND THOMAS HAVE YET TO TASTE THE SERIES' SPOILS

IN a short series—the length of the annual melee between the winning teams of the American and National Leagues experienced pitching usually counts.

Of course there was the case of Babe Adams, a rookie, who won three games in 1909 while still finding his bearings in the big show. But he is the exception that proves the rule.

What we're getting at is the fact that the Yankees, ambling into another world's series this fall, boast of a pitching staff which has, in its entirety, hurled a total of 22 games in the various world's series.

Bob Shawkey has been in four series and has worked in five games, drew credit for winning one and losing two.

Waite Hoyt has been in three series, a total of six games, and has won two and lost two games.

Sam Jones, in three series, has worked in five games and gone without a victory while losing two games.

Herb Pennock, in two series, came out of four games with two victories and no defeats opposite his name.

Dutch Ruether, in two series, broke into two games and has one victory and no losses charged to him.

Urban Shocker, toiling a lifetime with the St. Louis Browns before joining the Yanks last year, never, of course, broke into a world's series. Walter Beall, Herb McQuaid, Garland Braxton and Myles Thomas have yet to cut their eye teeth in world's series games.

Pennock and Shawkey are the fall classic veterans. Both got a brief chance with the Mackmen in the ill-fated series of 1914. Pennock worked three innings in one game but wasn't charged with a victory or defeat. Shawkey worked in five innings and was charged with the loss of the game.

While Ruether was with the Cincl Reds in 1919 and the Washington Senators last season, he appears only in the records of the 1919 event. He broke into two games, pitched a total of 14 innings and is credited with winning one game.

The failure of Manager Harris of the Senators to inject Ruether into the final game of the series when Johnson appeared unable to find himself drew much criticism at the time.

Cardinals are Favorites as World's Series Opens Saturday in New York

I FIND an interesting condition prevailing anent the chances of the Yankees and Cardinals in the world's series. The majority of fans with whom I have talked feel that the St. Louis boys will win the world's series.

The main argument advanced is the plucky, uphill fight the St. Louis team made all season to cop the National League pennant, as against the ambling, easy-going jaunt the Yankees set and kept to triumph in the American League.

The Cardinals were considered as pennant contenders from the start of the season. That was not a new condition, however. They were so chosen last season. They have been ready to cut in on the money for several years, thanks partly to the wonderful batting of Rogers Hornsby, his qualities as a field leader while serving under various managers, and the general makeup of the team. This year the team had but one more asset than that—the presence of Hornsby with supreme power to direct the personnel, general handling and actual play of the team.

The Pittsburgh Pirates closed last season as the most powerful batting organization in the league, apparently blessed in addition with good pitching and youth. The situation seemed propitious for Pittsburgh to continue its reign. The National League critics gave the Pirates the edge last spring—and most of them favored the Cinci Reds over the Cardinals to finish second.

When the Cardinals eventually threatened the lead of the Pirates this season and challenged the right of the Reds and Cubs to fight it out with the league leaders the entire league turned on the aCrdinals, quite naturally, as the team to head off.

In the American League the situation was different. Many experts strung with the Washington Senators to repeat. This primarily because Harris and Griffith had proved twice their ability to direct a benchful of bewhiskered old vets to a flag—the demands that youth be served to the contrary notwithstanding.

Then there were the Athletics, with Kid Gleason to help Connie and Lefty Groves apparently raring to go. Also the Browns, with what seemed to be the pitching strength they lacked last season.

The Detroit and Cleveland clubs, always formidable and hope-wrecking outfits were to be reckoned with.

The New York team had wound up in seventh place last season and was in the process of rebuilding. When Huggins' team lunged to the front early in the season most folk expected the team to crack, figured they were playing above their heads.

It was not until midseason that the team was taken seriously as a menace to the hopes of the other teams. By that time the Athletics had lost their potency, the Browns had been wrecked by injuries and Detroit was having the same old trouble.

Not until then did the other teams turn on the Yankees with a vengeance.

Only once the past season did the Yankees find themselves hard-pressed and in danger of losing their lead. That was in the final series with Cleveland.

The Yankees have had things their own way most of the season. The Cardinals have had to fight for every game—for every inch of ground gained in the pennant race.

The day they won the pennant they realized they faced the same tire league turned on the Cardinals, to defeat a team handled by a veteran world's series pilot, composed mainly of world's series vets and imbued with the idea that they could walk over any club.

The Yankees are more liable to break, therefore, than the Cardinals.

Buckeye Athletics Have Busy Day, Too, Meeting Some of Leading Teams

Cleveland Teams Lineup; Wittenberg Plays Ohio State at Columbus; Mount Union Meets Heidelberg; Wooster Practices at Home for Ashland Players

Marietta, O., Oct. 1—Intensive workouts have occupied the light Marietta college football squad this week preparatory for their journey to the northern part of the state to make their debut in Ohio Conference circles against Oberlin.

Barring injuries during the week, the blue and white timber should shape up very creditably by Saturday. Scrimmages against the freshmen will show the spots that are weak and the efforts of Coach Griffiths and his assistants, Reiter and Ward, will be centered in bolstering them up.

There is a possibility that Rossiter, center of last year, may be available to the team, which would permit Griffiths to shift Vaughn Hinkle, lineman from the Wheeling district, to a guard position.

Early workouts indicate that Herb Rief of Washington C. H., playing his third year in the backfield, will be called on for the kicking and will share the passing game with Arpad Nevada of Bridgeport, star of last year's Freshman squad.

Cleveland Busy

Cleveland, Oct. 1—Cleveland colleges start their football season in earnest this Saturday when Case, Western Reserve and John Carroll are busy.

RESERVE, which meets Baldwin Wallace here faces its initial game of the season minus the services of Tony LaRiche. LaRiche played both half and quarter for the Pioneers last year. Just before the start of school this September he married. He came out for practice the first wee kof school and had a regular berth practically made.

BALDWIN WALLACE pulled a surprise by defeating Oberlin last week week 7-0. Oberlin is considered as having one of the strongest teams in the Ohio Conference. Its game with Reserve will give a good line on what Coach Gordon Locke is doing in first year as grid mentor of the Cleveland outfit.

CASE, which looks fairly strong, since its 25 to 0 victory over Heidelberg last Saturday, goes to Akron when it meets Akron University. Bob Fletcher, Scientist coach, reports that his team is in good shape and is feeling confident.

Coach Mal Edward's John Carroll crew was strengthened by the return of Pat M'Donald, fullback, and McCaferty, tackle, to school. Both are veterans upon whom Edward was depending a great deal. Carroll clashes with Grove City at Grove City Saturday afternoon after a month of strenuous practice.

ALLIANCE—Long signal drills and work to speed up the line are featuring the last week of practice for the Mount Union college squad before the opening of the Ohio Conference season, Saturday.

Mount Union will meet Heidelberg in the first game on the Purple conference card. Although beaten by Case at Cleveland last Saturday, Heidelberg is expected to give Mount a real battle.

WOOSTER—Blough, star Wooster back, probably will get in the Ashland game Saturday, his injured thumb giving him no trouble today when he scrimmaged for the first time this year. Hard work for the Ashland game was ended today.

* * *

DELAWARE—Ohio Wesleyan University will open its cross-country season Saturday with a dual meet against Miami University at Oxford. Coach "Whitey" Helms of the Bishop runners has a team of veterans this year led by Capt. Arthur Messenger, Marion. The run Saturday will finish between halves of the Wesleyan-Miami football game.

CINCINNATI — A huge bronze tablet commemorating services of all star football players of St. Xavier Catholic College here since 1900 will be dedicated by the school October 2 when the 1926 grid team meets Transylvania College in its second game of the season.

Youths whose work on the gridiron is noted by the bronze are known as members of the Musketeer Legion of Honour. The tablet will be placed in the new St. X. gymnasium when this structure is completed this winter.

* * *

OXFORD—Extensive work on the line, occupied Miami gridiron today in preparation for their Buckeye Athletic Association game with Ohio Wesleyan. James Dillon, 180-pound veteran end, took his regular place on the varsity for the first time this year.

ALABAMA LOSES STARS

University of Alabama football rooters are mourning the loss of Pooley Hubert, Mack Brown and Grant Gillis, but Coach Wallace Wade is still at the southern institution and has among other experts Red Barnes, Hershel Caldwell, "Little Six" Rosenfeld, Red Brown, Taylor, and Reverra to depend upon. Linemen are Wade's big problem, as Buckler, Jones, Camp and Hudson have lined up for the last time in collegiate competition.

RICHARDS TURNS PROFESSIONAL

Promoter Pyle Takes Star from America's Davis Team

New York, Oct. 1—Tennis fans, still dizzy from a season of upsets, the loss of the national singles championship to France and the invasion of Suzanne Lenglen, were given another shock today by the announcement that Vincent Richards, third ranking American star, had turned professional under the banner of Promoter C. C. Pyle, manager of Mlle. Lenglen, "Red" Grange and Mary K. Browne.

At a dinner given aboard the liner Paris last night in honor of Mlle. Lenglen, Pyle announced that Richards had joined his troupe and would appear in a nation-wide tour of exhibition matches. He introduced the young star as "the greatest male tennis player in the world."

Richards said he turned professional "in justice to his little daughter and his wife." Amateur tennis players do not obtain large sums of money, as generally believed, he said.

Richards, who had been regarded as William Tilden's logical successor as the king-pin of American tennis and as America's hope to regain the singles championship from France, was the only members of the American team to reach the semi-finals in the national tournament this year. He had defeated Tilden. Dick Williams and other leading stars.

ANNUAL TOURNEY PLANS PROGRESS FOR ATHLETICS

Schedule Ends Sunday with Columbus Morrey Jewelers Here

Sunday afternoon may be the last opportunity Marion fans will have this season of seeing the Marion Athletics play as a team. In fact, there are likely to be a few new faces in the lineup when the local team meets the Morrey Jewelers of Columbus at Lincoln Park.

Manager Francis Bacon has several lines out for big league players to play with Marion in the inter-city tournament Oct. 10. Among the players who have been approached are Wilbur Cooper, famous southpaw of the Chicago Cubs, who for so many years was the mainstay of the Pittsburgh Pirates. There is a possibility that Cooper will be on hand for Sunday's game against the champions of the Capital City league.

Another new player who will be seen Sunday is "Sailor" Sharrock. This particular member of the numerous Sharrock family of ballplayers has been with the famous bearded team representing the House of David this year, and sports a batting average of .370 for the season.

Wingate of the St. Louis Browns, is another who has been approached. It is almost certain that he will be in a Marion uniform on the 10th and Bacon is trying to line him up for Sunday's game, as well.

Ed Wells, ace of the Detroit Tiger staff, will pitch one of the games for Ashland if they enter the tournament. Ed Roush of the Cincinnati Reds has been approached and will probably be on hand.

If possible, Nick Altrock, famous comedian with the Washington Senators, will be brought here, also. If Nick does come, he will be used in the pitcher's box for a few innings and will finish the game at first base. Before he became a baseball clown, Altrock was one of the leading southpaws of the American League, and was one of the main reasons for the White Sox winning two pennants. He can still twirl a good game, and is far from bad at the initial corner.

It is hoped that arrangements for the tournament will be completed in time to make a final announcement during Sunday's game, which will be called promptly at 2:30.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

Cleveland—Tommy Freeman, of Cleveland, won newspaper decision over Georgie Levine, of New York, 10 rounds.

New York—Tod Morgan, of Seattle, junior lightweight champion, won decision over Joe Glick, of Brooklyn, 15 rounds. Hilario Martinez, of Spain, knocked out Harry Wallach, of New York, in the second round. Young Harry Wills won from Bobby Robideau, four rounds. Teddy Baldock, of England, knocked out Arthur De Champlaine, of Long Branch, in the first round. Frankie Plaul of Texas, won from Al Tripoli, of Yonkers, 10 rounds.

West New York, N. J.—Phil McGraw, of Detroit, won newspaper decision over Johnny Rocco, of New Rochelle, 10 rounds.

Fort Thomas, Ky.—Jack Reynolds trimmed Young Gordini in 10 fast rounds; Vic Ross gained decision over Lou Palmer in six rounds.

McKeesport, Pa.—Tommy Crowley, Pittsburgh featherweight, defeated Eddie Bowen, Cleveland, in 10 rounds; Young Saylor, Charleroi, Pa., light heavyweight, outpointed Jack Katkish, of Lawrenceville, Pa., in 10 rounds; Tug Phillips, lightweight, of Charleroi, scored a technical knockout over K. O. Ferry, of McKeesport, in fifth round; Young Rudy, of Charleroi, received the referee's decision over Marty McHale, of McKeesport, eight rounds.

MARION MEN ON WESLEYAN TEAM

Rex Miller and Jack Doubly Condition at Steam Shovel

Delaware, O., Oct. 1—Rex Miller and Jack Doubly, Marion, have landed center and guard berths, respectively, on the Ohio Wesleyan University freshman football squad.

"Beef," as Miller is known to his teammates, played three years at center on the Harding High school team in Marion besides playing basketball and baseball also. Doubly, who goes by the nickname of "Johnny" held down a guard position at Harding for three years alongside of Miller. He also was a track man.

Miller is six feet, one and one-half inches in height and weighs 201 pounds. Doubly scales 160 and lacks one-half inch of being six feet tall.

Both boys toughened up for the gridiron season by engaging in hard work during the summer, Miller holding down a job in the boiler shop of the Marion Steam Shovel company while Doubly had a fling at concrete work.

Big Bill is Feared Most by Yankees Who Will be Grouped Around Babe Ruth

First Game Winners Have Big Advantage, According to Records, and St. Louis Is Taking No Chances; Alexander and Rhem Will Be Near

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, Oct. 1—Bill Sherdel, left handed hog able to love it down, quite possibly will pitch the opening game of the world series for the St. Louis Cardinals tomorrow instead of the elderly Alexander, original choice among those who do their guessing while you wait.

There was said today to have been an overnight shift in sentiment toward Sherdel in the camp of the Cardinals, although no one in authority would confirm the report. The young man is worth a bet, provided the Cards are interested in winning the opening game, and, somehow I can not seem to shake off the impression that they are.

22-15 Margin for First Winners

Of the 22 winners since the start of the modern series in 1903, 15 of them got away running by winning the first game. The percentage, moral and actual, is all in favor of the club that hits them first and explains at leisure, if at all.

Sherdel Slews 'Em

Sherdel is the man the Yankees fear. They say they can "take" these fast ball pitchers like Alexander and Rhem something like seven days in every week, and, as long as they feel that way about it, I don't see any particular sense in encouraging them. Everyone knows that there are two ways to break the Yankee back:

Hit him firmly between the shoulders with a sledge hammer or feed him a slow ball left hander with a wide curve. Sherdel fits that description like a cap on a freshman's head.

Ruth Is Rub

The "kick" in the Yankee lineup is centered around Ruth, Meusel, Gehrig and Lazzeri and all of them are what are known as free swingers. They don't choke the bat and snap at the ball; they try to gobble it whole and often do. But not with a great deal of success against slow ball left-handers. If you don't believe me, ask our Mr. Ruth about Pruett.

Pennock Is One and Four Man

Anyhow, the man who figures to be the big winner of the series should start the opening game, of course. He then can be brought back for the fourth game, and, if he purports to have anything left, the seventh, if any. That will be Huggins' system with Herb Pennock, at least as far as the first and fourth games are concerned. Pennock is not the man to pitch three games in any series and get away with it.

Alexander, old as he is, might be able to do it. Flint Rhem, with all his fine, young strength, could laugh it off, too. But the Yanks think they can smear this pair all over the premises and that collection of brooding athletes is difficult to convince, once it makes up its mind to a thing.

Yanks Look for Alexander

The chances are that Alexander and Rhem will have a hard time stopping the New York outfit just because it has kidded itself into believing that it has the "drop" on them. They might have everything, but the Yanks wouldn't believe it.

Conversely, it might so happen that Sherdel would have nothing and the dear, old Yanks wouldn't believe that, either. They have been told the boy is due to slow ball them silly—and silly it will be.

That the Cards' strategists have begun to suspect this state of affairs was indicated this morning when a man high in their councils made a rather significant admission.

"Sherdel is more than a possibility for the first game," he said.

The writer doesn't know why he shouldn't say it.

POORMAN'S GAME IS CANCELLED

Mansfield State Prisoners Have Another Game Scheduled Saturday

Poorman Garage-Mansfield Reformatory baseball game scheduled to be played in this city Saturday has been cancelled according to announcement today by management of the local team. Mansfield has another game scheduled this week and will be unable to play here for several weeks it was learned today.

The Mansfield Ohio State Reformatory could not play the game originally scheduled last week on account of rain.

-o- The New Book -o-

BY FRANCES JENNINGS

A NOVEL of most unusual character is the new publication, "Beau Sabreur" by P. C. Wren, the author of "Beau Geste", "The Wages of Virtue," "Stepsons of France" and other well-known books.

Mr. Wren has employed a method of telling his tale that is not only unique and original but truly absorbing. He takes his leading characters to the ends of the earth in their lives and the climax of the book, then in Part 2 he bewilders the readers (for a time) with a set of wholly new characters. These he finally brings to a crisis of which the former characters are already a part. The close he does show "both sides of the story," compile two interesting narratives in one and entertain his readers with a style that is entirely different.

The story, despite Wren's assertions in the author's note, is almost preposterous, although it is the story that contains enough excitement, humor and suspense to hold a reader's attention. Character study there is, too, in the fascinating, wholesome American and English boys who assume the role of desert sheiks on a real desert.

The plot, briefly, is that a young French army officer, whose God is duty, leaves for Africa where he hopes to complete a treaty with a powerful desert tribe, in the name of France. Various adventures are his, all of which are exciting and new in plot. There is also a love story, which might have left a greater impression had the heroine, Mary Vanbrough, been less courageous and whimsical and a bit more feminine. The powerful desert tribe is under those same American and English desert sheiks and lively comedy follows when the French officer finally arrives to arbitrate. With him are Miss Vanbrough and her Alsatian-loving mais, Maudie, through whom complications develop.

The novel contains a clean love story and a trend of whimsical humor. The first half of the book, known as "Failure", is written in the first person, supposedly by the young French officer, and the latter half of the book, which is written by one observing the main characters, is called "Success". The two methods of telling the story, both of which are accomplished, successfully, lend that essential quality to the good book ..... variety.

HELP YOURSELF TO HEALTH — H. K. Kellogg

Worn and weary—but not from work

ONLY a few months ago he was feeling fine. A full desk meant nothing more than a full day—a challenge which he eagerly accepted. Life was worth living then. . . . But now . . . now he seemed eternally tired, lifeless, exhausted. His head was dull and achy. Work was a frightful bore. Life was barren of interest. Where would it all end? . . .

In the work-a-day world there are thousands of men and women who suffer from constipation. They try this and that, forever seeking relief and seldom finding it. Yet there is sure, permanent relief from this disease—Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

As Kellogg's ALL-BRAN journeys through the system its fiber remains unchanged. It remains a bulk food, as doctors call it. Because of its bulk it sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It stimulates the flow of digestive juices. It absorbs and carries moisture into the intestine and prompts it to natural, healthy action.

If eaten regularly, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to bring permanent relief, or your grocer will refund the purchase price. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Its delightful nutty flavor makes it good as a cereal. Serve with milk or cream alone or with fresh or preserved fruit; with other cereals; use in soups, cook in hot cereals, or in the recipes given on every package.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the original ALL-BRAN—a 100% bran product. That is why doctors recommend it. Your grocer sells it. Get a package today. Also served in all hotels and restaurants.

Well Nourished Children ..are the most progressive

Now that the children are back at school again are they physically prepared for the long months of work ahead? While they eat plenty of food, is it the RIGHT food for promoting maximum development?

Good, rich milk bread should be the base of every diet. There is no food produced and ready to eat that can approach it at its cost and meet also the approximate balance of a proper ration.

Bread ... as Kroger makes it is the child's best food. A perfect knowledge of the baker's art, plus the finest ingredients ... which includes added milk ... make it so.

Try a loaf and see with what eagerness everyone eats it.

GENERAL SEMENOFF PLOTS TO INVADE SIBERIA, IS REPORT

General Semenoff, the former White Russian leader, who is now living in Nagasaki, Japan, is attempting to organize an expedition to seize Siberia, according to a dispatch from Tokio. It is reported that the White Russians throughout Manchuria and the rest of China are being organized as a nucleus of an army of invasion.

POPULARITY OF WAR MOVIES INCREASES

Pictures Based on Military Themes Going Strong with Producers in Hollywood

Los Angeles, Oct. 1—War pictures are the order of the day in Hollywood. In practically every one of the larger studios, the war motif is found in feature productions now under way. The pictures do not necessarily deal with the World War, but each has a historical conflict as its underlying theme.

Paramount alone has five big war pictures in production including Pola Negri's "Hotel Imperial", work upon which prevented the beautiful Polish actress from rushing to the bed of Rudolph Valentino when word first came of his serious illness in New York.

B. P. Schulberg, associate producer in executive control of Famous Players-Lasky west coast studios, explained the popularity of the war theme.

"The great purpose behind motion picture production," Schulberg declared, "is the presentation of life's great drama on the screen. The greater the drama, the greater the appeal to the public. And the greatest drama of all human history is war."

EIGHTEEN BOY SCOUTS ATTEND TROOP MEETING

Boy Scouts of Troop No. 1 held their weekly meeting last night in their den at the Y. M. C. A. Senior Patrol Leader Harry Dorsey was in charge of the meeting in the absence of Scout Master William Bland.

Eighteen boys were reported in attendance and routine business was conducted.

WILL ASSUME OFFICE

Rome, Oct. 1—Premier Mussolini, who already holds five cabinet positions, soon will assume new duties. Gen. Gonzaga, commander of the Fascist militia, soon will resign because of ill health, according to announcement, and Mussolini will take command. The premier's principal jobs are as follows: Premier, foreign minister, minister of war, minister of marine, minister of aviation.

SUITS ON STORIES END

New York, Oct. 1—The suit brought by Joseph Menchen, Jr., a moving picture producer, against the Laura Jean Libbey estate has been withdrawn. The suit had been brought because of alleged ambiguities in the titles of stories Menchen had secured from the authoress.

A recent survey showed that of 666 girls attending Washington State College only 24 had unshorn locks.

WOMEN IN WEST ASSERT EQUALITY

Are on Common Ground With Men in Business Affairs, Club President Declares

Los Angeles, Oct. 1—Men and women meet on a common ground in business circles of the west; but in the east women are handicapped by tradition.

Miss X. Clements of San Francisco, who presided at he recent convention of the California Federation of Business and Professional Women's Club in Hollywood, is authority for the statement.

"In the east, women in business are fighting conservative tradition," Miss Clements declared, "but in the west it is different." When Horace Greeley sent the young man westward; the young woman went right along with him, and the further west you go the better the chances for progress by women."

"We have the most capable women in the world right here in California," the club president said, "and in the business world here there is no such thing as sex—no men or women—just 'people'—putting over affairs through sheer force of ability."

Aproximately 90 per cent of the organization's membership of 6,000 women has bobbed hair.

Kadgar Grotto Band

TO BROADCAST FROM COLUMBUS

on Air Saturday Night

KADGAR Grotto band of this city, under the direction of Bertram Myers, is booked for a 30 minute concert at WAIU, Columbus, at 10:30 Saturday night, it was announced here today.

The band is scheduled by WAIU following arrangements completed by Bert Barshares, local representative of the American Insurance Union of this city.

The local organization will consist of at least 40 persons who will offer both popular and classical selections.

The first of the programs of the Atwater Kent Hour to usher in the second season of the popular fall and winter series of radio concerts, featured by the appearance before the microphone o the world's greatest vocal and instrumental soloists, will be broadcast Sunday night, with Anna Case, soprano, and Albert Spaulding, violinist, as the artists.

The program, beginning at 9:15 o'clock, will be transmitted by WEAF, WJAR, WEEI, WTAM, WWJ, WSAI, WRC, WCCO, WGN, WCAE, WGR, WFI, WOC, WTAG, WRC and KSD.

Sunday Night Bills

Radio listeners in Marion and vicinity will be favored with the famous programs each Sunday night during the coming radio season. Reception of the entertainment is best obtained here through WSAI, Cincinnati, WWJ, Detroit, and WTAM, Cleveland.

Sunday afternoon marks the beginning of another radio feature of the radio world for the coming season, when Dr. S. Parkes Cadman will deliver his addresses and conduct his question and answer periods through WEAF, New York, and the chain stations.

WSAI, Cincinnati, is the only Ohio station to join the chain in the broadcasting of the Cadman periods. Dr. Cadman will appear before the microphone for the first time this season at 4 o'clock, Sunday afternoon.

Radio Show

WLW, Cincinnati, features the annual Dayton Radio Show broadcasting, Saturday night, beginning at 8 o'clock. The Crosley Salon Orchestra comes on the air at 8:30, Sunday night, following the regular church services by Rev. Frederick MacMillin of the First Presbyterian Church of Cincinnati.

Ey Jones and his Merrymakers and their regular vaudeville reamper features the WTAM bill from 9 to 12 o'clock, Saturday night. The Allen Theater Orchestra and vaudeville program are scheduled for Sunday night at 8 o'clock.

Dance Music

Famous dance orchestras hold a prominent place on the WJZ bill for Saturday night. Harold Leonard and his Waldorf-Astoria Orchestra comes on the air at 6 o'clock followed by the Don Voorhees Orchestra at 7 p. m.

The Columbus Radio Show comes to a close Saturday night at WAIU. Horton's band will offer the closing concert, beginning at 9:45. Alice Jones Ritt, soprano, comes on the air at 9:15.

FILIGREE SILVER BUTTONS TRIM ORANGE FROCK

Silver filigree buttons seem to draw the spotlight on this unique dress of fawny orange canton crepe. It has an attached cape, by the by, and the buttons fasten it from one wrist across the shoulders, down to the other wrist. The cape is cut with a flare.

For the rest the dress is simply made. It has a standing collar which buttons up close to the throat in front. A low set belt buckles in front and the plainness of the skirt section is relieved by three scalloped tiers.

SAUSAGE

And that isn't bologna, either. What is more appetizing than a plate of crisp, brown pork sausages, flanked with a platter of griddle cakes and maple syrup?

Another good point about sausages is that you get 100 per cent food value for your money. There is absolutely no waste to sausage and after a man has toyed with these delicious morsels of nutriment his plate should be as clean as a bride's silverware. And say, we will have plenty of those delicious little BREAKFAST SAUSAGES for your Sunday morning breakfast.

We will also have plenty of nice dressed chickens, both young and old, for your Sunday dinner.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventures

BY JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

...s sore at my grand-...ng. I found that out ...Jubilee down by the ... and had went down-...my grandfather brang ... little wagon with ...rge as ginger snaps, ...long it all over the ... it her "waggie" and ...bed she must of left ...a room table.

...t in the kitchen I ...ed on the door, and ... to have the bunch do ... the pasture, and I ...st the dining room ...ear anything, and then ...t on her bare tiptoes ... the wagon and went ...nt of my grandfather's ... back in her room and ...d never saw me.

... of what the poor old ...at wheel might do if he ... wagon, so I snuck in and ...n front of my ant's door ... the pail and went out ...ined brutes, and I told ... the wagon, and I was ... see what was going ... Hopper said he would ... and tell my mother ... said he might come ... breakfast with me, and he would set there and watch out.

Hopper is our crip and everyone likes him, one leg is shorter than the other leg. If the other leg was as short as that one it would not keep the seat of his pants from dragging on the sidewalk, so he is lucky to have one long leg.

On the way to the pasture he said my mother said she was glad to see him, and that he must come over oftener, and he said my father and unkle and grandfather had come out and sot at the table waiting for the first griddle full, and then my ant's door opened and she came out looking at my grandfather and grinning, and then he said that all at once she came acrosst the room like she had a scooter, and then one foot went up and kicked the under side of Annabelle Lee's highchair table up over the top of Annabelle Lee's head so that the table hung down the back of the highchair, and Annabelle Lee's breakfast went upside down on the lounge and my ant sot down so hard that she shook the neighborhood. And she got up and made eyes at my grandfather and said: "How dasted you put that wagon in front of my door?" And he told her she was crazy and Hopper swiped four pancakes for Jubilee. We laughed all the way to the pasture. That was a good one on my ant.

Daily Bedtime Story

BY HOWARD GARIS

Uncle Wiggily and His Friends

...one day past the pond ... and Noodle Flat Tail, the ...ved, Uncle Wiggily heard, ... one of the round houses, ... and sticks, a voice saying: ...ush, my dear. Perhaps ... will bring you one for ... Never mind!"

"But, mother," spoke another voice, ... that Mr. Longears well knew, ... a long time until Christmas! ... a very long time! And I want it ...!"

"Christmas will be here in about ... months," went on the first voice, "and it will not seem very long when the snow begins to fall and the ice ... our pond so you can skate."

"I don't feel much like skating now, Mother," was what Uncle Wiggily heard next. "And I do want a squirter!"

"But, my dear Toodle, I can't leave now to go out to get you one. You aren't well enough. Please be patient!" and with that Mrs. Flat Tail, the lady beaver, swam up out of her house, for beavers build the front doors of their houses beneath the water. This keeps ... or bad chaps, away, ... unless ... can swim beneath the pond.

"What is the matter, Mrs. Flat Tail?" asked Uncle Wiggily, as the beaver lady swam over to the shore where the rabbit gentleman was sitting ... his short, little tail.

"How did you know anything was the matter?" asked Mrs. Flat Tail.

"Excuse me, lady," said Uncle Wiggily with a smile and a twinkle of his pink nose, "but I could not help hearing the talk that came out of the roof of your house," for the beaver's house had rather a large hole in the roof for air. When winter came this hole would be plastered shut with mud, or made much smaller. "What is it that Toodle wants?" asked the rabbit.

"He wants a hollow rubber ball that he can fill with water and squirt," was the answer. "Toodle has been ill and he's a bit peevish and fretful. He has been wishing for a rubber ball, but I have no time to get him one, and his father has taken Noodle down to the ... cent store to get a new pair of rubber boots."

"Then I'll go get Toodle his rubber ball squirter," said Uncle Wiggily, and ... hopped through the woods until he reached the toy store where he found a fine rubber ball for the little beaver boy.

... was back to the mud and ... house Uncle Wiggily hopped ... a grove of chestnut trees, and ... he saw a green stickery ... about the size of the rubber squirter ... for Toodle. This stickery ball was really a prickly burr, inside of ... were three brown chestnuts ... stickery ball had fallen off the ... still had on it the long stem for ...

"I'll pick up that ball by the stem so ... now," said Uncle Wiggily

"Here! Give me that!"

to himself, "and carry it to Toodle. I'll play a joke on him, making him think I brought him this instead of the rubber ball, which I'll hide in my pocket."

As Uncle Wiggily picked up the prickly ball, or chestnut burr, he heard a rustling in the bushes behind him and a savage voice cried:

"Here! Give me that! How dare you pick up anything in my woods!" And three stood the unpleasant Bob Cat. "Give me what you picked up!" snarled the bad chap.

"All right! Have it! Here it is!" cried Uncle Wiggily, and, holding the stickery ball by the stem, the rabbit whirled it around in the air and suddenly let it fly straight at the Bob Cat.

"Wowzie scowzie zow!" howled the bad chap as the chestnut burr struck him on his soft and tender nose. "Oh, trolley buses!"

"Well, you asked for it and you got it!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily, and then, not bothering to play the stickery ball joke on the beaver boy, the bunny hopped away, leaving the Bob Cat to pull the stickers from the burr out of his nose. And when Toodle got his rubber ball squirter he had a lot of fun with it, and was soon all well.

So this teaches us that it isn't always wise to get what we ask for. And if the hands of the clock don't tie the Jumping Jack's shoe lace in a hard knot, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's vine ladder.

CUPID SENDS 33 AFTER LICENSES IN SEPTEMBER

Number of Marriage Grants Issued During Month About Average

Thirty-three marriage licenses were issued in Marion County during September, records in Probate Court disclosed today.

Last year, only 32 licenses were issued while in 1924, the number recorded in September reached 33. The record-breaking September for marriage licenses was in 1923, when 44 licenses were given out during the month.

During the last few days of September this year, no marriage permits were issued, but the rush in Probate Court during the forepart of the month kept the record for the month on an even stand with other years.

At one time during the month, six licenses were issued in one day.

Compared with the number issued in August, the September total shows a decrease. Thirty-nine marriage licenses were given out during August.

BRUNO BROS. TO CLOSE RETAIL FRUIT STORE

W. Center-St Market To Be Discontinued Saturday Night, Claim

Bruno Bros. wholesale and retail fruit firm of this city, will discontinue real fruit business Saturday night, when the store on W. Center-st will be closed.

The retail store was opened in the present location about eight months ago and has been the only retail store of the company.

The wholesale department of Bruno Bros. is located on N. State-st and the managers of the company today announced that wholesale business will continue. The firm has been established in Marion for about 10 years.

No reason for the discontinuance of the retail store has been given with the exception that the room now occupied by the company is soon to be taken over by the Kresge Co.

The Kresge Co. some time ago leased the two adjacent rooms on W. Center-st, occupied by Long's Shoe Store and Bruno Bros. at that time. A week ago, Long's Shoe Store was moved to E. Center-st in preparation for the occupation of their former room by the Kresge Co.

Kresge's, according to plans announced at the time of the leasing of the building on W. Center-st, will establish a "green front" store in Marion within a short time. Work of improving their proposed location will begin immediately.

"THREE BAD MEN" FRIGHTEN WOMAN

Marion has at least one person, who, like Will Rogers, knows only what she reads in the paper.

Frightened by a series of advertisements inserted in The Star, announcing the moving picture, "The Three Bad men," an elderly woman called The Star office.

"I read in The Star that 'Three Bad Men' are headed this way," she said nervously. "Is there anything to that?"

A reporter explained that the notices were for the moving picture of that title.

With a relieved "Thank you" the woman hung up.

ITALIAN SOLDIER'S CASE ATTRACTS LOCAL GROUP

Rainbow Organization May Aid Disabled Veteran Found Lying in Street

The case of Charles Rubenstein, who served in the Italian Army during the World War and who has been undergoing treatment at the City Hospital during the last week, has attracted the attenion of local World War veerans, who may aid in extending relief to the ex-soldier.

A representative of the local branch of the Rainbow Division Veterans' organization conferred Thursday with Charles M. Tobin, health department official who has charge of municipal charity work, regarding Rubenstein's needs. It is possible that the local veterans may contribute funds to pay for moving Rubenstein to Cumberland, Md., where he formerly resided.

Rubenstein's condition is not favorable and while Mr. Tobin believes that he is hardly strong enough for the trip to Cumberland, the war veteran is insistent upon being permitted to leave and his wish will probably be granted within the next few days.

Rubenstein was found in a semi-conscious condition on Oak-st about a week ago after he had been taken ill while on an automobile trip across the country with three companions. He stopped here to obtain medical attention while the others continued on their trip, according to Rubenstein's story.

Has Many Wounds

Rubenstein's account of his war service is substantiated by four bullet wounds in his head and body and by the fact that he shows unmistakable evidence of shell shock. He is an Egyptian and has two children, who reside with his parents in Egypt.

There is possibility that the case may be called to the attention of an Italian consul in Cleveland or some other large city.

POLICE FAIL TO TRACE BINDLEY GROCERY LOOT

Unable To Unearth Clews as to Identity of Robbers; Truck Missing

Although messages have been broadcast requesting police of all towns and cities throughout Central Ohio to assist in the search for the burglars who entered the Bindley Grocery Co.'s place of business on N. State-st Wednesday night and escaped with a Reo truck and 350,000 cigarets, no trace of the burglars or stolen goods has been uncovered, the local police department reports. It had been thought that the truck would be easily located, as it bears the Bindley Co.'s name, but the burglars have apparently found refuge some place where all of their loot is completely under cover.

Employes of the Bindley Co. are still at work making a check of the company's stock in order to ascertain if the burglars took more than the 350,000 cigarets. The check thus far has revealed no other goods missing, company officials say.

INDUSTRIAL, RAILROAD STOCKS IN STRONG RALLY

Movement Reflects Favorable Effect of Lowering Call Loan Rates

New York, Oct. 1—The rally in industrial and railroad stocks gathered considerable momentum today, reflecting the favorable effect of the prompt lowering of call loan rates, the improvement in the general money situation and the unaltered reserve bank rediscount rates.

The motors and metals were the brilliant performers in the industrial list, while the Van Sweringen Nickel Plate issues and a few of the western rails, notably Union Pacific, were the principal standard bearers for the transportation stocks.

The decline in call rates to 5 1-2 per cent brought relief to the bullish factions in Wall-st, though there was no indication of any return of October funds to the banks. Bankers were generally of the opinion that there would be plenty of funds for speculative purposes, though not denying the the possibility of an upward revision in federal reserve rediscount rates.

The prompt rise of United States Steel to 153, up nearly 5 points from yesterday's low, and the conspicuous strength of Bethlehem Steel and Crucible gave confirmation to the statements of the heads of the steel industry with respect to the newly created European steel trust.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

Egg prices were unsteady in local markets today. The farm price for eggs ranging from 37 to 39 cents with the retail price at 42 and 43 cents.

The price of eggs has been on the increase during the last few weeks and indications today were that he increase will continue. The price at present, however, is expected to continue the remainder of the week.

No change in the provision and meat markets of Marion was recorded today but plans for the regular Saturday meat specials were being made.

Sweet potatoes were plentiful today and prices in many provision houses showed a decrease. Sweet potatoes in one local market were selling at 10 pounds for 39 cents while another store retailed the potatoes at six pounds for 25 cents.

Peaches early today had shown a great decrease in number in Marion and those on sale were far from ripe. A new shipment was expected this afternoon and fruit markets will again be supplied Saturday.

Cranberries

Cranberries, selling at 15 cents a quart, were on display in all Marion markets. No elderberries were in evidence. Apples today sold at $1.25 a bushel and pears, although there were few on display, continued to sell at $1.75.

Cabbage, leaf lettuce, head lettuce, Lima beans, and celery were especially prominent on local vegetable counters with no change in price attached.

THREE GIRLS RETURNED TO FEEBLE MINDED HOME

Claim They Left Institution Because of Unsatisfactory Work Assignments

Officials from the State Home for the Feeble Minded arrived in Marion shortly after noon, Friday, and took charge of three girls who had escaped from the state institution at Columbus, Thursday night, and were picked up on the streets here early the following morning by local police. A truck was used to convey the runaways back to Columbus.

The girls, who informed the police that they walked the entire distance between Columbus and this city, said that they had decided to leave the state home because of distasteful duties and the work assigned to them by the matron. They gave their names and ages as Catherine Elizabeth Tillman, 20; Nellie Ray Lamb, 18, and Gladys Conover, 19.

NEWARK POLICE PENSION CONCERTS NET $1,000

Benefit Entertainment Is Produced by Promoters of Recent Local Event

Angelo and Frank Papanis of Springfield, promoters of the police pension fund concert held in Marion on September 10, staged a similar program at Newark Thursday night and the event was a complete success in every respect, according to Claude S. Wertz, day desk sergeant at the local police station, who attended the entertainment. He was accompanied by Mrs. Wertz.

The benefit concert in Marion met with slight success as the result of a controversy which developed with officials of the local Retail Merchants' Bureau over the sale of advertising for a souvenir program. No definite report has ever been made public but profits from the Marion entertainment were very small, according to statements of police officials.

About 1,200 people attended the Newark concert, which yielded a revenue of between $1,000 and $1,100 for the police pension fund, according to early estimates.

SAY RUBBER INDUSTRY IS BOOMING IN AKRON

More Than 3,000,000 Tires Made During Third Quarter of 1926

Akron, Oct. 1—The rubber industry here is booming, according to figures announced today for the third quarter of 1926, by local rubber manufacturers.

More than 3,000,000 tires were manufactured during the period and the sales volume has exceeded any previous quarter year in the history of the industry.

While the margin of profit has been smaller and seasonal recessions are to be considered, profits have been most satisfactory and stocks of both raw and finished products have been materially decreased.

KATHARINE BRUSH TO "COVER" SERIES

KATHARINE BRUSH

Katharine Brush, widely-read writer and the author of "Glitter," the interesting serial story just recently concluded in The Marion Star, is to "cover" the world series for The Star this year. Mrs. Brush's stories on the premier sports event last year set all Marion a-laughing and her series this year promises to be even better than last year. The first story on the games will be found in Saturday's issue of The Star.

CONGRESSMAN FLETCHER AND WIFE ON PROGRAM

Scheduled To Address Meeting of County Teachers Saturday Afternoon

Congressman and Mrs. Brooks Fletcher will speak at the county meeting of school teachers to be held tomorrow afternoon at Central Junior High School. Mrs. Fletcher will talk on "Some First Aids to Your Mind," and Congressman Fletcher will talk on "A Human Personality in the Light of Modern Science."

Sunday afternoon Mrs. Fletcher will give a talk at the Fletcher M. E. Church at Roundhead, Hardin Co., and in the evening at 8 o'clock she will address a meeting at Liberty Chapel, near Bucyrus, Crawford Co.

Sunday morning Congressman Fletcher will address members of the Men's Class of Epworth M. E. Sunday School.

With the news that General Pangalos, former dictator of Greece had lifted the 1,000-year-old ban prohibiting women from entering the "hanging monasteries" of Mount Athos, came the facts of a daring adventure of two young Englishwomen, who, before the ban was lifted, climbed to the topmost peaks of these mysterious retrents in the disguise of Greek boys and watched the 8,000 monks at the risk of their lives. Pauline and Betty Rowe, heroines of this amazing enterprise, are the only women who have ever penetrated "no woman's land" and hearded the fanatical monks in their lairs.

POLICE OPEN CAMPAIGN AGAINST DOUBLE PARKING

The police have launched a campaign to stop double parking of automobiles in the uptown district, two arrests on this charge having been made in the last few days. Dr. L. W. Gutmann, 227 1-2 W. Center-st, appeared before Mayor Hazen Wednesday and paid a fine of $2 for violating this feature of the traffic rules. Earlier in the week a woman auto driver was fined $2 on the same charge.
